

SECOND COMING

Herein my teachings are presented to allow for the bridge of your current consciousness to that of your divine selves that are eternal.

Read and discern with your Free Will.
Look to the heavens above and trust there is so much more for you to know about your existence that is beautiful.
All that is unfolding now is a reflection of the perfection of the Universe.

FOREWARD

These are my true teachings as channeled by the one known as Akara. She generously stepped aside so that I may share with you these lessons from my heart. It is my gift to all men now who choose to seek guidance in these times of Awakening.

You are all Masters with Free Will and you dwell in a loving Universe that acknowledges you all individually. This truth has been veiled to most men and it is my desire that the few and simple truths of your existence here and now be revealed to allow for you to carry on the missions of your soul which is to live with a Peace on Earth as you create in and with an abundance of joy.

The Universe with all its Love is watching your beautiful planet Earth as it moves into its Ascension. This is a magical time for all who are incarnated here and now and the miracles of your world are unfolding in a perfectly timed flow for all to delight in.

As my words reach into your consciousness there will be times when you will need to pause and reflect on their meaning to your existence now. I want you to use your Free Will to discern my messages to you one by one. Many readers will have great disbelief about their true individual powers, and the Mastery they possess, but these are truths for you to now behold.

Remember as you read my words as well, that you are in a game as the Master you are and here very specifically to make decisions that will provide you beautiful opportunities for growth, and that all was designed for you to create here on Earth in joy and abundance.

The book explains how most of you have been led away from this truth, but it also provides a simple and clear path for you to now Awaken to your true reality. You are all divine beings that have your own personal connections to your higher selves and with that, access to the Love and power of the Universe.

This was my power as I walked the Earth as Yeshua, the man who has now been fabelized as Jesus Christ. The powers I possessed to love and heal and nurture are the same powers you possess. I was a teacher then and I remain a teacher now through this book's teachings.

This is my Second Coming to the hearts of humanity and for all those that open their hearts to these Universal truths I speak of, I will be with you to share in your joyful Awakening.

The beginning

Today is the day I come back to man to set a new course of thinking for the future. I have never left you, any of you, as we are all one and will always be one. I am grateful to the channel of this book, who asked in her dreams to help the planet on a global level. Our energies and desires became intertwined. This was no surprise to me, as the channel is at a soul level of my — our — Mary Magdalene. Her actual soul name is Akara, but you may feel her spirit in my words, as well, as I have merged our energies to create these lessons that are about to unfold for you. My best instructions to you are to read the entire book and discern what feels right to you and what feels wrong. It is being given to you with complete light and Love from our Creator and is the truth of the Universe. What you feel, say “off,” about, is where you will need to take time to examine why. I do not expect this will resonate with many, but it resonates with our creative source, and the call and guidance for actions are imperative if your world is to survive. You have been lied to on so many fronts, and I am here to tell you that the lies must end.

After reading this book, I will show myself to all who ask in ways that will be very specific to you for your asking. All of you.

You will know without a doubt that I am with you. It is your job, then, to go back to the sections of the book that did not resonate with you at first and study how to begin to change your belief system to one of complete unity of the planet.

I fully expect, as I start showing myself to you, that you will begin to share the experience with your family, friends, and neighbors. You must all bond together and help each other move this planet forward. Your power will come from your local communities. Begin to help each other and treat all men as your brother. You all will absolutely maintain your Free Will, which is the Universal reason for your existence in this time-space reality.

I want to tell you a story about your creation. It is miraculous. You are all miracles. You are all powerful Ascended Masters that have been veiled by the deceptions of many people over many, many years. I want you to understand your power. It is the power to create worlds. It is this power that will save your planet. It will be very difficult for many of you to believe that you are as powerful as me. Yes, I am the one you called Jesus Christ. My lessons were accepted as the truth when I was incarnated as Jesus, although that was not my name. My name was Yeshua. The souls that I was able to touch when I was incarnated understood the full power of my Love. My Love is your Love. Love is what our Universe is made of. It is the air we breathe on the other side of this veil and has been hidden from you for many, many years.

The channel of this book should be an example to you of how someone with no religious background can step forward with Love and bring forth instructions for such a global transformation. The channel had not been indoctrinated with a religious upbringing, but she asked questions. And then she asked more questions about who she really is in this Universe. She wanted to believe in her power but had no concept when she started to meditate at the age of sixty-one. She had what many of you would call an almost instantaneous kundalini awakening. It is not unusual. It is not confined to the gurus of India. By no means was it ever restricted to the masters of your churches. It is the spark that is within your soul that now wants so much to be alive and show itself.

I want you to understand your power

It is the power to create
worlds

To fully connect to the level I am asking you all to move into you will need to begin to meditate. This is not a hard task. I will give you very, very simple instructions.

FIRST Breathe. Just breathe. Just two or three slow breaths. Then two to three breaths a little deeper. Do not worry about clearing your mind. Just breathe for one minute. One minute. That's it.

SECOND Think of one beautiful thing that you are grateful for in your existence here and now. You do not have to clear your mind. Just think. Even for those of you who feel that the world is falling in around you — you can find one thought. Think of this one thing for just a few seconds and feel gratitude for your one thought and its existence. If you can find three thoughts that you are grateful for, better, but at least find one. That is all I ask of you. If you can string together four thoughts for example that you are grateful for, the blue sky today, you can be grateful for your children, you can be grateful for your best friend, you can be grateful for your upcoming travel, you can be grateful for the neighbor that just helped you. This is your personal experience. The one caveat is you do not want to be grateful in this little exercise for pure Love. That is given to you, as that is your complete essence.

THIRD Open your eyes and go out and be happy. This meditation practice is simple and is your new beginning. For anyone who has not tried this I cannot over-emphasize the benefits it will bring you immediately. The science even in your limited three-dimensional reality verifies it.

Meditation is the tool all of you can use to begin to access your power. It should become a daily practice. It is my promise to you that it will become easier and easier. I have always known that your spiritual beings will be lifted up during this Ascension process. My mind is filled with the greatest of expectations that you all will Ascend. What is Ascension? It is your natural and assured right of expansion. It is the most blessed part of your existence here on Earth. It is a time for growth. And it is a time for Love.

My time

Mine is a story of Love. A story so broad and long and beautiful that it is hard to conceptualize without referring to the multi-dimensional. It is a story of peace and, yes, good will on Earth. The concept of good will on Earth seems like a distant promise, almost unattainable, but it is where we are all headed. It is where the path of Ascension is taking us.

It is a path, not necessarily of convenience, but a path of trust. A new-found trust in yourself and your higher consciousness that will provide you with all the guidance you will need to survive and thrive. It is the cognition of your soul. It is the full belief and acceptance of the divine nature of our Universe, and the divinity within you.

I have mastered this connection, and it is available to all of you. It does not matter the circumstance, where you are in this world, the lifetimes spent, your karma, nor your mental state. All that is in the past, and it is malleable.

THREE

Your time

The story of creation is one of such magical proportion that it will be incomprehensible to many at this point in time of your three-dimensional existence. Nonetheless, the magic of it is the story of the Universe. It is a story of Love that stretches seamlessly from the many dimensional planes to the planets and galaxies and Universes that bind our existence. The concept of eternity can be visualized in your three-dimensional world, but the magnitude and magnificence of it cannot. I am here to tell you that you are all eternal and learning magnificent lessons that you are sharing with the Universe whilst you enjoy this incarnation on Earth. Many of you cannot comprehend the joy and privilege of your existence here, but when the veil is lifted and you understand more of who you really are, then you will reflect and live and remember the joy of now.

I have said this before but it bears repeating again, that you are all like me in terms of how we were created. Your seed was my seed. My entrance into my Mother Mary's womb was exactly the same as yours. We all had divine plans for our time in our incarnation. We all started the same and then opened and evolved with our Free Will and sexual energy

Your human form has existed on and in multiple galaxies and Universes, and it still does to go and create and lay down opportunities for the next generation. I tell you this to set the stage for the concept that will be new for many of you, but one that needs to be communicated clearly for you to understand, as it will destroy so many of your belief systems about your creation.

Please sit down for this, and remember that I, Jesus, am speaking to you directly and honestly with the full intent of helping your existence today to be the joyful and abundant nature that it was always meant to be.

To begin, for many of you who have been taught about your evolution there has been a reliance on Darwin's theory. To be blunt, this theory was entirely wrong and has led you to multiple false premises about your evolution. The notion of survival of the fittest is truly at complete odds with the true universal plan of your existence. Many, if not all, ancient civilizations knew this. They understood that their creation and evolution came from the stars. So does yours.

In the history of the Universe there has been a continuing evolution of planets and intelligent species that are allowed and perpetuated by our creative source. Your human form has existed on and in multiple galaxies and Universes, and it still does. As you exist you evolve, and if your evolution takes your planet towards its creation from Love, then, we call that Ascension. Ascension is a process that has a magical reward. The reward is to then be able to seed a follow-on civilization, on a new planet. So in the analogy of a man and a woman bringing forth a new child into the Universe, the same analogy can be applied to the civilizations of our Universe. Hence, the human race was the birth child with birth rights from the star system you know as the Pleiades.

The Pleiades were and still are a magnificent civilization in our Universe that completed the process of Ascension. The Pleiades are alive and well and watching with great Love and admiration for your civilization. It is with great joy and honor that the seeds of the Pleiades also watch their evolution as a civilization. The seeds of the Pleiades were the Arcturians. And so it goes. The Arcturians were seeded by those from Sirius. And so it goes.

I do not want you to think about or try to understand all of the concepts of this grand multidimensional evolution of the Universe. Suffice it to say for now that your existence here is based on Love and cooperation with your brother man in all realms of your existence and that this is the path of the Earth, which is the path of Ascension. Just as most of you accepted the theory of Darwin, you truly did not comprehend all of the biology at the cellular level that was allowing for his theory of evolution. So with this new concept for many of you, all of the details, many of which are quantum, will be difficult to comprehend. Many of you will accept them because of your divine connections and intuition about your existence. For those of you who have generated belief systems about your creation based on what the Churches may have told you and, many of which were based on what they told you about my creation and my existence, I am here to tell you the real truth. This is the truth that when I incarnated on Earth I was teaching to my fellow man. My teachings at that time were restricted to the gentle people who walked the Earth back then.

My teachings included the fact that we are all from the same creative source. I was a man who had the fortitude to stretch my belief system, and I opened up to divine guidance. I was a channel for the Love and the grace of all on the other side. This capability is open to all of you. The Church does not want you to understand this. The Church never has had your best interest in mind. The divine does, and with a bit of opening of your intuition to your own internal divine guidance you may begin to understand and accept this concept of your creation.

I have a vested interest in you, because you are me. We are all one. Your path of evolution is about to change. Just as your path changed with the corrupt abuse of the Church's use of my teachings, I now want it to change to a path of Love and truth. It is a divine time of Awakening. Many of you who walk the planet now understand this. It is a beautiful consciousness for those who understand their power and are aligning it for the good of the whole.

I want to be very clear that there is no wrong path for any one of you individually. Your Free Will is divine, and if you cannot resonate with my words now, that is your choice. Though, I will guarantee you that you will resonate with my words when the veil has lifted for you. For many in this generation it may be when you pass. For many, the Awakening is happening now.

Listen clearly— the time is now

There is a divine understanding of the way the Universe works. It provides for a magical bridge between your conscious self and your divine soul. I, Jesus, am here to tell you now that this bridge exists for all who choose to cross it. It is as you would say “Your Magical Mystery Tour,” but only because you have been blinded to its light by the Church. It is your responsibility now to cross this bridge and take ownership of your divinity by yourself.

There are many ways to begin this “crossing.” The first of which is to be still for a few minutes a day. Lay with your eyes closed and sense the flow of energy through your body. This is not hard. This flow is you, your divine self. Feel it, for it is undeniable. It is your essence. It is the power that creates worlds. It is inside you, but for many of you it has been the “sleeping giant.” Lay still and feel this energy until you believe in its existence. That is the first step.

The second step is to acknowledge the bridge now between your conscious mind and this energy. This energy and your conscious mind are one. With this cognition you will have freed yourself from one of the biggest lies of the Church, which has been that you need an intermediary to connect to the divine. You do not. You are divine, and you can connect to your higher self at any time that you can find stillness and listen. This was God, the creator's, gift to you when you chose to bring your divine self down to planet Earth to experience this wondrous human experience you are having. It was always intended that you would be able to access this connection to guide your everyday actions and always have a path to your light. Yes, you are all from the light, and your connection to your light is your natural birthright.

With just a few minutes a day of stillness, or what you would call meditation, and the act of feeling and knowing your energetic connection to yourself, you will begin the grandest of changes for your civilization as you are cutting the cords of the Church's stronghold.

It is important that you question why any of your Church's teachings would imply or dictate that your personal connection did not exist. This is your direct line to the creator, God, and with it is embodied the piece of God that you all carry within you. Your source energy is centered in your heart. It is not a coincidence that the Love that the Universe is based on connects directly into your heart and that you have this magical energetic cord connection to the divine through your heart. I now want to focus on this heart connection.

Step three is to visualize your heart's connection. You have, by design, many energy centers in your physical body, the heart of which is the most powerful. A beautiful and easy way to connect your heart energy to the energy of your divine higher self is through a simple breathing exercise. There are three steps:

STEP ONE

Place your hand on your heart.

STEP TWO

Draw a breath in and visualize that the air is entering your body through the heart.

STEP THREE

Do not worry about quieting your mind, but focus rather on any subject or aspect of your life that you are grateful for. This will flow more easily for some than for others, but it is a necessity. Gratitude for your family, your food, your environment, your ability to travel, your friends, your health, your Love of any activity you enjoy participating in, your ability for the process now of an Awakening mind. All your choice. If you have difficulty, start small and find something, even if it should only be the beauty of a sunset, star, or raindrop. You can do it. Breathe in through your heart, repeat in your mind these thoughts of gratitude, and relax.

Before the churches of the world were in existence, this is a process that your ancestors practiced with a clarity of understanding of their divine connection. This is not new. Many today who are Awakening use this process daily. That is our recommendation to you.

Even your primitive science-based doctors and physicians will acknowledge that this simple exercise will, in fact, set off over 1500 chemicals within your physical body that are self-healing for you. This exercise is wondrous in so many more ways than you can imagine. It truly is your connection to Awakening.

My next desire for you is to recognize more of your divine guidance system as it speaks to you at all times. Your ancestors used it with a full understanding of its power. I used the same connection.

There comes a time in the evolution of every soul when they ask the question, "Who am I?" The scope of the desire among each when asking is immense. Many have listened to the Church to tell them about their soul's existence and destiny. Many, in their disgust with their natural intuition, declared non-belief and have been labeled as atheists; therefore, they give up on any path to knowing their true divinity. Some, but far too few, are going deeper inside for the answers. So, the Church has succeeded, by plan, in taking out the majority of souls' quest for the answers they so need at this time.

The steps I have described for you are meant to awaken that question and position you for guidance to begin seeking the answer for yourself. It is imperative that all ask this question and look for the answer within. Only then will the answers be shown to you and the revelation of your divinity and mastery of the Universe be revealed. You must not look to your Church for these answers, as they will always be tainted with a bias for control. You must be strong and create your own base of knowing, and I will tell you now, it will be based out of your heart. Your heart will guide you to the truth. The truth will set you free. Your freedom is paramount, and, as you dissolve the bonds of the Church, your innate Free Will expands in ways that will be a gift to mankind and the planet.

Mixed in with the teachings of the churches are some “nuggets” of truth about your existence, but they are few and far between. Once you establish your own base of heart knowledge about who you are, then you will be able to navigate, and many of you will help redefine the teachings of your churches as a group. The church at that point will only be a place of worship of individuals who have, by choice, used their Free Will as a collective.

The power of your collective conscious on loving beliefs will have a magnificent impact on you as an individual and will help many of you continue to answer the question of Who am I? The day has come when all men listening to my message to you now will understand the process of true Awakening. Your beautiful planet was designed with the full intent that the sentient beings who walk it together would rejoice in the presence of their fellow man and that there would be Peace on Earth for all.

This is not impossible or improbable. It is where you are headed with Ascension. The process is going to continue to move slowly for a bit and then, like a car engaging its clutch and gear, will speed up, creating a wave of Love across the planet. We can see it from our side of the veil, and it is beautiful.

The story of the old ways of the Church as spoken through modern day preachers, priests, rabbis, and self-proclaimed holy men is a fascinating exhibition of self-righteousness, ego, greed, and power. Any man or woman who has chosen this path needs to be deeply questioned by any follower of their congregations. If the questioning reveals a heart-centered desire to truly serve as a speaker of the truth I am presenting to you here, and nothing else, then their role in dissolving the old and re-writing the new may be confirmed. If not, and they debate any of the teachings as truth which are in opposition to what I am saying now, then you must question all and again use your heart-based guidance system to bring you to the truth.

The art and skill of questioning your own belief system is difficult, as it is wired into your subconscious, and, for many of you, it has been reinforced through parents, family, and peers as a justified belief system. It is truly a physical barrier that is hard-wired into your body through your neural connections.

I am here to tell you, though, that it can be overcome, and faster than you may believe. I will help you. I, Jesus, if you call to me with either prayer or preferably in the breath meditation I have explained, will come to you and give you my guidance. You will, without a doubt, know it is me. Your asking is reflective of your Free Will and will allow for us to meet. Time is of the essence, even in our world of eternity, as the course of the Earth and your civilization depends on it. You are all heading in the direction of Ascension, but your acknowledgment of the need to make an effort to rebuild your core belief system is imperative.

As a practical matter, I advise you to start alone. The next step will be to share your new beliefs with your family and friends as appropriate. Do not be meek or afraid to share, as you will be astounded at the masses that will be heeding the call, as you are. There is power in numbers, and there is power in the truth. The beautiful truth of your divine existence.

As you speak of your new beliefs you will begin to develop a new sense of your divine self. When you are in your places of worship, look high and low and around and feel only the most beautiful and truthful pieces of information.

Take my list of the top 10 lies (reference page 155) and start with these. As they exist in your old belief system, question them all. This is no small task, but once started it will become easier. Some lies are more evident in some churches over others. You will be able to discern all.

There will come a time when all men will see the light. For many now, that time may not come until they pass through the veil of illusion they are under now. But for many the Awakening to the true light of their soul's divinity and their assured Mastery will be transformative, enlightening, and beautiful as they play through this incarnation on Earth.

I will add to my suggestions here, what have any church "goers" to lose by testing their own divine connection outside the Church. With your divine connection comes a new responsibility, almost as a child leaving the comfort and care of their parents' home. It means taking on new responsibilities. Some may wish to stay at home in the comfort of the Church's false teachings, as it may appear to be the easier way of existence. I am here to tell you emphatically it is the equivalent of your being in a cult, albeit one your society has approved. A cult based on my and the Creator's teachings, but which I tell you again emphatically are completely false. You need to view these lessons of "escape" as critical for your survival and that of the planet before you continue on and "Drink the Kool-Aid" for yourselves and the planet Earth.

There is a reason this process is called Awakening. So many of you are living in such a false state of grace and literally worshiping in your churches the true "devil" or "hell" as they have described to you. It is one and the same. I am here to literally save your souls from their dangerous, corrupt and cruel teachings.

It was not possible when I walked the Earth for me to transcribe and write all the truths that I so desperately wanted my fellow man to know. At my time, the Jewish faith maintained control of my world along with the pagan Roman Empire, whose belief system in multiple "gods" was a creation to keep the masses in check. The words I spoke in person to my fellow man are the words I am speaking to you now in these pages. Your soul will resonate with them, and it always will, when it hears the truths of the Universe.

As you continue to read my words here, I want you to envision my voice and whatever picture you have of me in your mind as being right beside you. You will feel my presence as I am doing the work and speaking the words of our Creator, which resides in both of us, as it always has, for now and eternity.

The future of the human race

It is in the presence of your fellow man that your new-found beliefs will begin to be tested. Do not be hard on yourself, but do be aware. When an old belief or petty judgment crosses your mind, notice it and do your best to let it go, and move on.

There is an old Chinese proverb that states that an insult cannot exist if it is not accepted. An insult or a judgment that you may generate is only your responsibility to manage, discern, and then release. Those who you judge are completely responsible for either acknowledging or ignoring your judgment. It is their Free Will. I give you these words only to soften the impact you may feel upon yourself once you begin to notice the judgments the churches have told you were acceptable in your daily lives. Be easy about them as you notice them. They are only within, and you are not being judged by anyone on this side of the veil. It is my hope that you may discern the judgments, and release them, and move on, staying present in your now. It will all become easier.

We do not want you to even judge yourselves. You are all perfect Masters of the Universe and the Creator's children — all of you — and you cannot get any action wrong. The evolution of the dark practices of the Church are not viewed with judgment. They are noted, but not judged. I, as you, have complete Free Will to discern what we believe is right and wrong, good or bad, light or dark. What we do with our Free Will and thoughts is a beautiful dance of creation.

My creation here is for you to discern and acknowledge that the path to light, which every soul seeks, is just a different path than what you have been led to believe, for many reasons, and that I choose not to agree with.

A long time ago, before I walked the Earth, there were many civilizations that had daily practices of meditation and connecting with their divine souls. They used their intuition with confidence and with an understanding that it was a divine connection to their higher selves. This ability to connect was always a path of survival for you as you entered into the current state of separation that you are existing in during your incarnation on the planet.

These tribes, villagers, and groups were not clouded by the current veil you exist in now. Their lives were, as designed, to be joyful, masterful creators that lived in a divine grace with one another. It was not always a perfect existence for them, as they had their ego-driven motivations that escalated for them, as it has for you now.

My return now for you is because you need this divine connection for your civilization to survive, and with the current state of the Church's control over it, it remains almost impossible for you to unleash yourself from its hold and control over your minds. My issue is that this is being done using my supposed words of guidance, and asking for a sacrifice and clearly operating under an agenda that does not give women the equality they deserve.

These are critical, yet exciting times for you all. You do not need to go through a crucifixion as I did to claim your power. You need only to sit quietly with your beautiful minds, breathe, and believe. This is what I did as I walked the Earth as Jesus. Every day. The powers that will be bestowed on you are, for most, unimaginable, but I am here to tell you again that you are no different from myself and my powers, which were real, in my ability to Love and heal. These are what lay ahead for you all.

Imagine being able to heal your own child from an illness, being able to delight with a true Love in all your interactions with your fellow man, and being able to provide and live in an abundant grace while still caring for your beautiful planet. This is what awaits you. Peace on Earth. Good will toward man. All of it. But it will take an effort, again, not one of any suffering, but one of going inside yourself and pulling it out of the divinity that is in and of you all.

The Church will not take you there. Your large corporations will not take you there. Your pharmaceutical companies cannot give you a pill to take you there. You must take yourself there, and as you do, and Awaken, the magic around you will show itself. As you see more and more of this magic in your communities and families and businesses, the ground swell of it will be exhilarating for all who are participating.

There will be no judgment for those that sit on the sidelines and safety of their current places of worship, but the rewards will go to those who follow my New Age guidance to you which so ironically is not New Age, but what I have always taught. These teachings are not similar, but are exactly what I taught as I walked the Earth.

It is a privilege for me to come back as your teacher again. I am honored that you are reading my words. For those that my words call to action, my heart sings. For those that cannot leave the corrupt Church teachings, my heart sighs. But for all I only have the deepest Love you can imagine, as Love is the complete state of grace we all exist in on this side of the veil.

My wish is for you all to make my heart sing. Your divine connections are the greatest song that has yet to be sung through the Universe. The Universe hums with beautiful music, but your songs of connection, as they grow and expand, will make the Angels sing and literally cry with joy as they reconnect with you all.

Every day is a new beginning and a new opportunity to create more Love and abundance on your planet and within yourselves. Your abundance, or your sense of its lack, are completely under your control. Your divine connection is your channel to all that you need, and with that connection you may open the legions of heavenly bodies that await to assist you. The miracles that can be performed on your behalf are infinite, and all are guided by the very best of intentions for your well-being.

You, as I, are all children of the Universe. You are not just a lone being walking this planet but rather are magnificently existing with all the children of the Universe, as all are watching your Free Will progression on the planet.

This progression has now come to a point of criticality as the lower energies of your churches and institutions have put your self-mastery into a foggy existence in your minds. We all want to see this foggy veil lifted and for you to see the light of your innate power. I will tell you that your power is such that it creates Universes. Most cannot comprehend this concept yet, but, as with all my words here, it is the truth.

I want you to feel this power. You are an eternal being, a Master of the Universe having an earthly incarnation that is designed to allow you to create new pathways for all, and it was always designed to allow you to connect to your divine self for guidance.

This is the connection I am here now to re-teach. This is the same connection I taught when I walked the Earth.

I hope you can now begin to see the discrepancies among your Church's teachings of what I supposedly taught and the real words and concepts I taught. Every word I spoke was based on Love. We all dwell in a divine, loving Universe. Your job is to connect with that divinity, look about for new things and experiences that will bring you joy, and then to allow the magical power of the Universe to bring them to you. Nothing will be denied you. There is no need for competition among your fellow man, as everything that anyone desires will be made available — from perfect health, to beautiful foods, to exhilarating adventures, to cozy secure nights by a fireplace at home. When this concept is grasped in full, there will be Peace on Earth.

The key to Peace on Earth is in your divine connection. It will never be through the Church, nor the mal-aligned corporations such as the pharmaceutical companies and those profiting from war-generating items or those profiting from a pillage of Earth through pesticides or land clearing. There have been many forces of power working against your innate divine connection for over 2,000 years. Are you starting to understand this picture?

Let us take one example: the fluoride in your water systems. Many companies and churches and sectors of the government have been well aware for many years that fluoride creates a calcification in your pineal gland. Your pineal gland is one of the most direct physical connections to your divine self. By keeping your connection, as you would say, "dummied down," it has kept those in control of this knowledge more in control of you. Fluoride for your teeth is an absurd, never-documented ploy that was put together with a great intent, and it has been working to control you for decades. My clear advice to you now is to take all fluoride out of your systems and to demand of your local authorities controlling your water systems to have it immediately removed. Watch where the resistance comes from. There is absolutely no medical indication for its necessity. Period.

I have spoken to you of one example. There are so many more, but the fact is each one of you is so much more infinitely powerful than the organizations that would choose to keep you blinded from your power, to thereby profit from you in your unknowingness.

You are Masters. You must take your power back now. You can rise up and do this. It is imperative that you do so for yourselves, for your children, and for the planet to continue its existence. Ask and you shall receive. These were my teachings, but the asking need only be of yourself, who can provide anything and everything you might imagine. Many may believe this is too good to be true. Believe me, it is, and it is a beautiful thing.

Today is also a day for reflection on what it means to be human. To be human is to be divine. You are not here by accident or by some fluke; you are here by design. A spectacular universal design that took you from the oneness of the Universe to a state of separation as a human with the objective of allowing you to experience, on your own, new desires. When you see something you do not want or like, you immediately declare a desire for what you do want or like. That desire is your Free Will, and with that choice the heavens above will create the new want for your return home. Every desire you have acknowledged is done and waiting for you on this side of the veil.

Because we live in perfection on this side of the veil, we can be creative, but the magnitude of the creations that you initiate on your side is so much greater and allows for an even faster and greater expansion of the Universe. This is a glorious and monumental effort that is happening among you all on planet Earth now. This is a new concept for many, but it is the truth, and it, again, is what I spoke about when I walked the Earth.

It has been translated in its most simple terms, by the Church, as a clear defining line between heaven and hell. Yes, there is a heaven, but it truly exists on both sides of the veil. Many of you are not appreciating your “Heaven on Earth” now because of your clouded minds that have truly been corrupted with misguidance from the Church.

Hell is a creation of the Church to control your beautiful minds through fear. Listen to my words here with clarity: there is no hell, except for that which the Church has caused you to imagine in your minds. It has been the cruelest method of control of your mind, albeit successful. You will all understand with clarity this delusion when you pass back through the veil. You have the opportunity, though, now to live and manifest everything you are creating with your Free Will.

The power of your intention, combined with a belief and, therefore, knowing of your power, can create Universes. Your mastery of your own existence has no limit. We all dwell in a loving, magnificent world that has the power to deliver to us anything and everything we desire.

Many will reflect on these words with disbelief as they wonder how a small child could create, on their own, a terrible disease or death, a child that has not been indoctrinated by the Church’s teachings. The answer is that small child is a very old soul, a Master of the Universe, as you are, and came forth into an incarnation that was designed to gift lessons and create your desires at a level of intensity that is much greater. Your amplified desire for a poor, sick child for health and longevity, coupled with a strong emotion, sent legions of angels and divine masters on this side of the veil, creating more health and longevity for all. That child did not die. They incarnated with a very specific mission and passed back home to our home of Oneness with a complete sense of accomplishment. I speak for all the children who have passed seemingly too soon. There are no mistakes. Their lives were beautiful, and their mission to call out new desires was done.

These same scenarios, whether it be a rape or murder or genocide or war, are not to be judged as sins, as the Church has taught. They all created desires of security, safety, and longings for Peace on Earth that have all been fulfilled and are complete on our side of the veil.

The goal now as more and more people are asking for a better, kinder, gentler existence on your planet, is to just allow this into your existence. You must trust it is done and it will manifest once you connect with your divine self, and trust, and stop dwelling on the sins that created improvement on your planet.

The Church has literally kept you from the Peace on Earth we experience every day in the heaven on this side of the veil by having you focus your powerful, powerful energy on the sins. By focusing on the sin, you will attract more sins. By focusing to the light what goodness has been created you will attract that goodness into your existence now.

The Law of Attraction is real. It is a Universal Law that governs all thoughts. As you think it, you will become it. Those were my words. It was not meant to be translated into a “behave-as-I-tell-you” and follow our defined beliefs and then you will be rewarded. You are rewarded with every thought you have. My words encouraged many to focus on Love and forgiveness, and with that, many issues they had previously been focusing on and fretting about magically resolved themselves. If they stopped worrying and focusing on drought or scarcity of food, but rather on abundance, with the power of the intent of their divine connection, then they magically created their abundance of food and water. Many followed my words and guidance for many years, but the pressure from the Church as they again manipulated my words into a scheme to reduce your individual powers and create the dependence on the Church for abundance and wholeness, has resulted in a degradation of divine gifts and rightful abundance now.

Too many of you are living in poverty, which is only a state of mind. This is self-created, and it can be turned around with a thought of abundance and a belief in your current divinity.

You did not come here to use these powers to levitate, or to create wine from water, although you could, or to have two bodies existing on the Earth’s plane at the same time. Yes, I did these for shock value to show the power of the mind to the masses I taught, but it was always, always coupled with the message that I was a man, just as they were, a man of the Universe for which I had lifted the veil of the Church’s teachings, broken free with my own connections, demonstrated the magic, and then showed the masses what to do, answering all I could as to how to best acquire what they were asking for and desired.

As you can see, I was a big trouble-maker for both the Church and governmental system of the Romans at the time. Having masses of divine souls scoff at the government and Church was a clear path to their dissolution. Hence, my crucifixion. But just as that small child who has passed seemingly too early, my passing brought with it a magnificent desire of

As you think it,
you will become it

those who I was grateful enough to touch directly with my words, a massive desire for peace and Love.

Unfortunately, those desires were not powerful enough to overcome the accelerated ploy of the Church to twist my words for future generations into a state of mental bondage for so many. Yes, it has been an imprisonment of your beautiful minds for so very long, and it is with the Awakening desires of so many of you now for a greater truth, that it has allowed me to come back to you again to set the record straight. I am here for you now through these words, and it is my deepest desire that you no longer ever hold a thought that I died for your sins. That was never the path I followed. I lived on Earth for myself, and for the glorious contentment it gave me as a teacher with the uplifting of the souls I was able to connect with through divine Love. I put myself first, at all times. That is my wish for you all now: to put yourselves first, in front of the Church, governments, family, or friends who have their own divinely generated plans.

Yes, your plans may cross, and when they bring you joy, it is wondrous, and when they create in you desires for something better, that is divine, too. It is your job to stay focused, then, upon your desires, not “their” desires or sins. This is what I did.

As I healed individuals, I asked them to focus on their health, not the disease, and then I also focused with them on their health. As our two energies remained focused only on health, the health through the Law of Attraction manifested. These were viewed as miracles, but it was just a joining of focused energies. What I did then happens for you in today’s world and is seen as spontaneous remissions in the field of health. These are magic, but it is available to each and every one of you. I so desire now, as your teacher again, for you to understand this and, more importantly, to begin to use these divine powers for the betterment of not only your health, but the health of all your relationships with your fellow man and the planet.

Anything of glory, and an abundance of joy you can imagine, by design, is there for you.

I want to tell you a story of another civilization that became clouded in their thoughts and with their connection to the divine. It was of a civilization that existed before the time I walked the Earth and it was called Mu. Legends have been written about Mu, which did exist in the Pacific Ocean at the area you now call Hawaii.

It is a sacred area of your planet, both then and now. This early civilization was gifted from divine powers with the ability to reason, which therefore allowed for the blossoming of the people’s Free Will. The entire divine system was set up for this early man to push the possibilities that existed for living on the beautiful planet Earth to new dimensions. The people were all taught about their divinity and ancestors, which included peoples from other planets. Yes, this is another truth many will have a hard time with, but your creation on the planet was seeded by the Pleiadians, who began their work in Mu. This was the Garden of Eden where your creation began. I understood this through my guidance system, and I so longed to see it, but in my time as Jesus, it was not a dream I fulfilled until I crossed back through the veil.

I am telling you this now because all men must understand that you are not alone in this Universe, and very soon the disclosure of our brothers who are visiting us here on Earth will be revealed. This concept will shock and upset many, and my words today, here and now, are meant to help soothe any who feel fear from the extra-terrestrials that will soon be introduced to you.

These brothers from other planets and galaxies and Universes have come to help your planet. They are all Ascended beings that live in the light and Love that exists on this side of the veil.

Many are your ancestors from generations gone by, in a time-space reality that is hard for you to understand in your three-dimensional existence now, but you will all understand, either during this incarnation, or after you pass back through the veil, that you are and were never alone on your planet.

This is a concept that the Church and your institutions have held back from you for over fifty years. The revealing of this will create great chaos for many, and it will begin the unraveling of many corrupt institutions. The main reason is that these brothers and ancestors of all of you from space are waiting to share with you the most spectacular technologies and processes that will heal so many of you physically and emotionally, as well as our beloved Mother Earth-Gaia.

The time for their introduction is overdue. These are divinely advanced beings with divine souls who are on a mission, almost as I was, to teach, counsel, and soothe souls who need help in their time of separation. Suffice it to say these new technologies they will be gifting to you include limitless clean energy, clean water for all, cures for all serious diseases such as cancer, to name a few. They will almost immediately begin to work on your oceans and water systems to cleanse them of their pollution and restore the intended balance of their eco-systems. They will eliminate food shortages around the globe so that no child or man need go hungry.

Does this sound like a miracle? It should, because it is, but that is the grace and divinity that was always your birthright for this incarnation. To be allowed to live in a beautiful abundance of life and to be free to create in joy without suffering.

With the coming of these new technologies, many of your current institutions will crumble. The oil industry will no longer be needed. The pharmaceutical companies will close their doors. Your economies will be transformed, as banks and governments will need to be re-created around the new capabilities that will be available to all men.

Magnificent changes for you all, and my best advice to you is to be open as the news of this begins to stream into your information devices and, most importantly, to believe that what is coming is divinely inspired.

Those institutions who will fail will do all they can to terrorize you with fear of the changes as their last-ditch efforts to save their monetary gains. These extra-terrestrials all come in peace. The technologies they have to gift you are so immense in value that you must be open to receiving them. You must also recognize that if they were here for any reason other than to help your civilization and the planet, it was all meant as an exercise in control.

The mindset of those that can comprehend the magnitude of the impact of this new revelation for all the institutions from your schools, churches, science, healthcare, and all communication systems will be disrupted. This will be a ride for the strong of mind, but all are invited to participate. It is why so many of you are here now, including my channel.

When there comes a time that the beautiful changes may seem to be coming too fast for you to absorb, then my guidance to you is to go within for your own guidance. It will comfort you. Changing belief systems with your innate subconscious programming is difficult, but once you realize the miracles that are being laid at your feet as the gifts from heaven that they are, your ability to accept, acknowledge, and appreciate the new paradigm of Earth will become easier.

The new Earth that is coming will be the greatest planet for your civilization on which to exist and to continue your work in the expansion of the Universe. It may seem like you are being forced to move to a new country against your will, where you do not speak the language and that the fear of all the unknowns from language, to food, and to making a living will be insurmountable, but they will not be. You will adapt so much faster than you may believe. The delights, privileges, abundance, and joy you will experience once you make the “mental move” will propel you forward to the state of grace you were always intended to live in on Earth.

There are many beautiful souls watching this transformation of your planet from the heavens above, and standing in line to incarnate and to be a participant in this shift towards the light. So many beings of light are waiting to assist you. It is magnificent. The calling from your planet and your civilization to the Universe for assistance has brought in an infallible amount of resources. It is your mission to accept this divine help, and the first step is to acknowledge that the forthcoming changes I have been describing to you are sent from heaven, are divine, and are meant to be received.

As the timing of future events reveals itself with respect to how your governments choose to disclose, my guidance to you is, again, to discern all with your internal guidance systems. The history of your existence for the past one hundred years will quickly be rewritten, as it has been veiled by the few to keep them in control and with power over the masses. There have been many crimes against your humanity that will be revealed, but it will be of no value to “push” your energies against them. You must look forward, toward your future and the Light that is coming back to you.

Discern. Acknowledge. And then carry on with your grandest and most beautiful desires for your planet and fellow man. This is where your focused energy will best serve all. This is your Awakening into your Ascension, and it will reveal itself to you in many, many ways. It is at this point you will serve yourself by keeping an open and curious mind for the New World order to evolve that will be based on Love.

The power you each possess

A very long time ago there was a man who walked the Earth with a full knowledge of the grace of the Universe. He understood the divine Love that was available to all and did all he could to teach this concept and share his Love as it was channeled through him. That man was I, and I am here to help you. So understand with as much Love as I can deliver to you all, that you are beautiful, eternal Masters and that you are meant to exist here in a divine and loving grace. That Peace on Earth is at your fingertips if you can only not disallow it from enveloping your entire existence because of your old belief systems.

The phrase “you can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink” will apply to those who choose to stay fixed in their old belief systems. For those souls who are brave enough to connect with your divine selves and drink of the Love being presented to you, you will thrive. Love is your sustenance. It is what you were created with and it is what you will return to. The time is coming for you to live in the state of Love that you so deserve and with that the transformation of Mother Earth, back to the Garden of Eden for all. That was the plan, and I want to teach you how to get back there.

You must learn to distinguish your divine consciousness from your ego

But first, I need to explain now some very specific actions and results that you will need to begin planning for now. These will take time and communication, but the effort as it begins will be light work.

Mine is a longing for Peace on Earth, and with that a fully abundant planet that provides for all, contained within a beautiful Universal energy that allows for all new desires to be fulfilled. It will be a magical existence for all. There will be differences among some, but they will be minor and will be handled with diplomacy, not war.

The dream is one of beauty and grace. It is my dream for you all now. To get there is going to require a stunning transformation, but the effort is so much less than you have been led to believe.

I want to tell you now about a small effort that can be made by each of you individually that will have a magnificent impact on our civilization and the planet. The effort is this: you must learn to distinguish your divine consciousness from your ego. To be clear, your divine consciousness is your eternal being. It is here with me now and to whom my words are being spoken. It is the all-encompassing part of you that contains your divine spark. It is gentle, loving, intelligent, and knowing. It is your innate intuition.

Recognizing your ego is an effort that is very small, yet it will be frustrating for many of you as you Awaken and realize just how many of your ego-based thoughts and actions control your day. It is not necessary to analyze why at this point; that is a very long story on its own. It is more important for you to discern the difference in your thoughts and actions as those that are from your divine and those that are ego-driven.

As you notice and begin to classify these, it will become frustrating, but that frustration is a perfect impetus for you to seek and find more time with your divine consciousness, as it will be that part of you that can make the distinctions. The ego will not, or if it attempts to, it will become clear to you immediately.

This gentle discernment of your thoughts will shortly become a daily habit. I suggest you make it a game and fully acknowledge that it is a game you cannot lose. Your thoughts are all reflections of your Free Will, and as you build on the ability to notice in the moment whether it is a thought that is helpful to your connection or not, you will begin the most beneficial unwiring of many of the corrupt teachings you have been programmed with through the churches and your institutions.

No one knows better than you, with your divine intuition, what is best for you. As you reach more often for the thoughts that feel “divine” you will be putting yourself first, and that, in turn, will put others in the best possible place for themselves. I want you to be selfish, because in this act of following your own guidance system, miracles will be moved into your existence for the betterment of all.

Each day there is an opportunity for every man to connect to the divine, find peace and loving guidance, and then to relax into the reality of their incarnation with an appreciation and wonder that will then begin to create miracles. Some will note these miracles as serendipities. They are one and the same and are limitless in their nature, scope, and wonder. They are lined up, awaiting your Free-Will desire, and then your belief and emotion that it is possible for their manifestation.

I want to tell you how important it is to believe in your dreams. Your dreams of health, wealth, and abundance. Nothing will be denied you if you believe and feel the manifestation as if it were done. Nothing. That is your power. You are all-powerful creators and that is why you are here. To create with wild “abandon.” That is what we all desire for you as we are all one and share in your creations. We are able to immediately experience your creations on our side of the veil. In your three-dimensional existence it is our job to assemble the synchronicities, miracles, and serendipities that you only have to reach for in your mind with a belief in their ability to manifest.

The power of your mind alone is the fuel for all of these manifestations. It is not hard work. It is not being “good” by the standards set by the Church, your job, or anyone else, including your parents, family, or friends because of their belief systems. It is not based on any programming of your subconscious that would in any way talk to you through your ego and work to convince you that you are not worthy or that it is not fair.

It is fair. This is your life plan and the only voice you should be listening to is your own, and it is not your internal ego-voice; it is your divine consciousness. Period. You cannot go wrong with this guidance. But it is up to you to know the difference between the two voices speaking to you.

We choose to define the loving nature of your civilization as suppressed by the corrupt upbringing of so many in the religions they worship. They are truly worshipping a false God, as there is so little basis of the truth left in the Church’s teachings — by design of the elite, who have controlled them since I walked the Earth.

As you now read my words of truth, and perhaps re-read them, I expect you will feel with great mixed emotions the incongruities, as your divine inner self will feel the truth and your ego-based survival system will fight it as lies. Your ego is the part of you that is responding to the corrupt belief system, and it will work hard to maintain the status quo of your belief system. That is its job.

It is your job now to accelerate the shift in your beliefs by allowing your divine consciousness to spend time with you every day, teaching you the truth of your Universe, the truth of your creation and who you really are, and of the divine guidance that is all yours. You must give your personal divinity time to guide you, and you must trust it. I am asking that you worship no person, group, or institution ever again. I am asking that you respect and honor the divinity in all men. This is a new and different paradigm. I am not asking that any of you preach your guidance, with an expectation that it is right for your neighbors as well. You do not need to worry about your neighbor, for he has his own guidance system.

The goal that will help all reach out of this fog your minds are in is for you to share ideas of community with support for all. You will be amazed at how many of your desires are the same. At your core, you are all divine, all connected, and all from the same source of creation. Your new beliefs will begin a beautiful dance of creation in the best interests of all.

Yes, there will be holdouts and many who cannot make this leap of faith under the veil of separation, but that is okay. You are beginning a new civilization on Earth that will succeed, and your flow into it can be one of such profound new freedom that it will make you hunger for more, as it is your natural state. A state of divine knowing, grounded with your planet, relaxed in your everyday efforts, easy on yourself, easy with your neighbors and community. Less judgmental, more at peace, living in a sense of abundance, feeling appreciation for so much more. All this is awaiting you for the simple act of looking inside for guidance. It will be beautiful for all who participate.

The simple direction of your joint creations in going from a system based on competition and who can win over their competitor, to one of collaboration and no fear of failing, as your inherent knowledge that you can create on your own because it “feels” right will so move all your technologies, economies, entertainment outlets, and standards of living to new levels of abundance that have never been experienced on your planet. This will be a new paradigm in your existence and one that has the ability to begin to transcend dimensions and the veil of separation you currently exist under.

I would like to direct you now to a simple statement that I made years ago. Ask and you Shall Receive. You must ask of yourselves for your own divine guidance, free of fear or reparations from your institutions, for it will be given to you, without question. It is then your job to receive the guidance. You have Free Will to act on it in any manner you choose, but it will be given to you without any compromise to appease your existing false-based belief systems. In other words, it will not give you a partial divine, partial corrupt “bridge” of guidance to make it easier for you to accept. It will always and only be divine truth. You can question it, but it will not waiver. It will not give one thought or action to you that would compromise the guidance that it knows is the truth. Period. This will make hearing it harder for some than for others, but it speaks to the Universal Love we exist in that cannot be questioned.

Once a man begins receiving his own guidance, whether he believes it or not at first, the channel will not close. It will always be open for the asking. You will not forget your divine guidance, as it is you. You may argue with it, accept it, deny it, or become overwhelmed with the Love that is being given to you with it, but it will not be forgotten. This is a new path for many, and once you take the first steps, there is no going back.

How does it feel when you summon your divine energy? It should feel peaceful. That is the one emotion we want you to reach for and connect with. Your ego will never feel peaceful. It will always be calling you to action. This is the easiest test for you to discern the voice in your head as you learn to quiet your mind and spend these few minutes a day with your divine self. Peace. This is what you are looking for.

When you begin to think, hear, see, or feel the peaceful words from your divine self, then your belief system about the reality of the existence of the Universe on the other side of the veil will unfold. This is a gentle and loving exercise that will become a daily habit, as once you connect and feel the Love pouring through the peaceful guidance to you, it will become addictive. It is not calling you home. You do not need to worry. It is sending loving guidance for you to make your incarnation here as happy, joyful, and creative as possible. You are here but a short time, and we all want for you to make the best of it. Never to suffer, only to exist in the joy you know from the heavens above.

There will come a time once you are comfortable with your connection and you understand the goodness that flows from it that you will then begin to question any and all false beliefs that your Church has programmed into your belief system about the Universe.

You will begin using the same discernment as with your ego. If your Church has defined a sin — such as the Catholic Church defining that no true Catholic can remarry a divorced person in the Church, as divorce is viewed as a sin, so therefore the “sinner” cannot be allowed full participation in the Church — stop and listen to your guidance. Is divorce always a sin? Of course not. Remember that marriage is a conception of religion and carried out in its “enforcement” through your government systems. If you are at peace in choosing to marry someone you Love, and that person has been divorced, and your guidance system tells you your relationship is a thing of beauty and your Church tells you that you are sinning... What do you believe? It is my desire that you always, always, always choose Love over Fear.

Without having to become a student of my other work, A Course in Miracles (ACIM), you can simply use your guidance system from your divine self to show you to the best path of choosing Love over Fear. It will never fail you.

Again, as you deepen your understanding of how our loving Universe works, and why you are here, and learn to trust yourself over the corrupt organizations you have been trained to follow, you will free yourself of any fears they have instilled in you. Remember, this was always their intent, by design, to create the fear to control your minds and, hence, your wealth so that they could be assured of their cash- and power-flow, to continue their existence.

I am here to tell you that you will never need to fear another man who is listening to their own divine guidance. You need never fear any Church or Government that is choosing Fear over Love. Love is the magic that is your natural essence on both sides of the veil, and it will always overcome fear.

Question everything now and always choose Love over fear. If you believe in anyone keeping score of your life, then know that the discernment and how you choose to respond will be the greatest indicator of how you will reach your own desire for peace and happiness, which will contribute in exponential ways to Peace on Earth.

It is my desire that you always,
always,
always
choose Love
over Fear

These are big but simple requests at this point that I ask and guide you to begin. Do not procrastinate; just begin. As in your need for the air you breathe or the water you require for sustenance, your need to be the loving and peaceful Master that is your essence will become a necessity. That is my promise to you.

If you resist, that is your path, but it will never be as joyful or abundant as the path I am leading you down now. It is all your choice from your Free Will, and you never are or never will be judged.

Once there is a consensus among men that the path which will lead them to the Peace on Earth they so desire is one that is created from within, then, and only then, will there be the joyous return to living the divine life you came here to experience.

There are many factors that are and will continue to be in play here as more of you Awaken and lift the energy of the planet in the process. One of the most important areas of life that will change will be health. There is always such great desire to bring back health to an ailing loved one. This emotionally charged longing will motivate more to connect by themselves to the divine. As motivated men come forth and can confirm their ability to heal themselves, and even more powerfully as a group, then that factor alone will motivate more to connect to their divine selves for guidance.

A man may well be less motivated to connect to his divine self just to believe he can do it outside the Church, but if he has a small child or wife who is critically ill, and he believes it is a path, when others have given up, then he may be more inclined to reach out from his old belief system to help effect a healing. As more and more of you experience healings, it will be an unstoppable message that will be shared with joy. This will be the first great wave of a new belief system that will emerge, and it will be beautiful.

The next wave will come in the form of abundance and prosperity without the need to conform to your existing inflated systems of government and banking. As our energies are lifted through your divine connections and you begin to release old thoughts and beliefs of the need to be a slave to the system to survive and prosper, you will experience a flow of abundance that is unprecedented in your civilization. So much good is waiting to flow to you all. As you see your fellow man achieving, do not look upon it with competition, but rather with wonder, and just as with a healing of health, you may believe that you can create abundance as well from looking within you. You are all powerful creators, and what you will call miracles are only a thought away. You just must believe it.

Once these processes begin and you see, feel, and experience the new path created by you, there will be no turning back. You can only move forward, and this path will lead you to the light and to the joyous experience you came for.

Your ability to trust yourself will grow exponentially. This, in turn, will allow for your competitive programming to begin to unwind. This is what the fear you are carrying with you, as well as your ego, will fight in your mind. It will continue to be an internal conflict for a bit, but just as in exercising a muscle, you will know what to do. This is where you will have an easy task of discernment in asking yourself if you are choosing Love or Fear in any given situation. You can do this. Choose Love and you cannot be led astray.

We as the people of Earth are a magnificent civilization that is empowered so much farther than we can comprehend in terms of our ability to shift the energy of the planet. With a knowledge of this power comes responsibility. A responsibility to act in accord with the highest good for yourselves and your fellow man.

The flow of divine energy towards your creations of joy and abundance for yourself will, in fact, overflow to your fellow man. The beauty of this divine plan is eternal and powerful, as Love is eternal and more powerful than you may imagine. Love will slay any and all fears that may creep into your existence and consciousness every time.

The amplitude of the emotion of your feeling of Love is in proportion to its impact. The more you allow your heart to soar with gratitude for your Love of anything, the more you will set in motion a cascade of events that will bring you all you desire. The need for competition for survival will dwindle from your experience, and you will, in fact, enjoy the abundance of your fellow man. You will have a song in your heart with your new-found belief that it is overflowing and adding to your abundance, versus any thought that there is a limit on anything that must be shared.

Your days will turn into a joyous creation of tasks and activities that you will choose from within. You will dance the life you were meant to on your own. All of this awaits you. It is my promise. But you need to step into your divinity and take full responsibility for this joy and abundance. No one else can do it for you, and no one can deny it to you.

As your institutions crumble, which they will, you must be prepared to create new ones that will empower your creative nature, empower your Free Will, and are based on Love. The times that are unfolding with the coming changes to your civilization are immense. That is why you are here. To embrace, discern, connect, and create a new Earth civilization that is based on Love and knowingness of the Oneness of all.

You stood in line on this side of the veil to incarnate now. So many beautiful souls want to be here for this transformation, and you were chosen. So many corrupt institutions would have you believe so very much to the contrary in their efforts to control your belief system, but the fact is that you, with a full belief, and with your heart-based emotion of Love as an individual, is more powerful than one million more who have worked very hard, with thousands of years of experience, to keep you separated from your divinity.

The time is now for you to take back your power. As each of you does, one by one, the beautiful metamorphosis of your civilization and planet will literally begin transforming before your very eyes within this lifetime. Nothing is impossible. Nothing. You live in an unlimited Universe that belongs to you and your fellow man.

On one hand, I expect, the ease of this transformation sounds unbelievable, but that is only because of the demons of doubt that are circulating in your subconscious, creating fears that have been indoctrinated into your core. This is an inside job. The work for you is not in converting others; it is not in working to change something to make you feel better. It is all about you going within, connecting with your higher self through the practices I have been speaking of, using the loving guidance that will be provided to you and discerning it over the fears you have been programmed with. You must begin to think for yourself. You must question yourself and then choose. Then listen, question, and choose again. And again. And again. Do not fear any choice, but your guidance will always be to choose Love over fear. At first it may feel unnatural, but with practice it will flow easily.

If you are rushing to a job or school or meeting and you fear being late, I ask that you relax and enjoy your journey and release the fears of your tardiness. Acknowledge anything in the journey you can be grateful for. Simple. Not easy at the start, but it will become a habit whereby you will soon see the Universe yield miracles to your emotion of Love, versus your emotion of fear. You will make all the lights on the road; the meeting will have been delayed; your class was cancelled. All of the fear that you had “imagined” from running late will dissolve by the power of Love. The Universe will always provide for you in any scenario when you have chosen Love and stayed with the belief.

There comes a time in every man’s life when they ask the question, Who Am I? You are Love, and when you connect the dots, with your divine self through the immersion of yourself in Love, you will feel and be more at home in this incarnation. When you make the choice of Love over fear a priority for your ability to live in abundance, it will begin to undo the programming of the fear-based beliefs most of you have been trained into for survival.

Competition, hard work that is not your joyful passion, learning skills for a need to survive versus fun, working on others’ creations, not your own, or striving to be “good” based on the rules of the Church are all the wrong path. And not just a wrong path, but one that has led you to this critical point in your existence.

Now is the time to Wake Up and take back your power

Now is the time to Wake Up and take back your power, choose Love, and trust the process which is the Law of the Universe, your core nature, and that of the Creator.

Mindfulness. Paying attention to your thoughts and discerning the truth I am speaking to you now is your job. Not striving for another, not worshipping false doctrines, not living in fear, and not taking for granted any of the beautiful miracles happening around you all day and every day. I will be with you through this process of evolution of your conscious through your own mindfulness. I was able to embody and choose Love more often than most men on a continual basis after I became mindful of my own thoughts. Then this is what I taught.

Love is the highest vibration and fear is the lowest vibration in your existence. When you vibrate Love, you vibrate at a higher frequency and energy, and therein lies your path to the miracles of the Universe. Love will set you free. Love is what feeds your soul. Love is what will open your mind to your true reality. It will make you one and whole with the Universe.

Fear, on the other hand, will lower your vibration. This will lower your energetic field and keep you separated from your divine power. Fear will disrupt your health. Fears create false realities. Fear is what you have been programmed into since birth. Even your loving parents trained you into fear as a child in their best efforts to protect you. The Church has created false fear-based realities to control you. Your governments and institutions have created fear-based realities, claiming that they are critical to your survival as a civilization, thereby continuing their existence.

The fact is that you are all you need. You are complete. You are a powerful Master. You are benevolent and kind and joyful. You understand the “playground” called Earth you have come to visit, and you came to joyfully create your own reality that is powered 100% by your beautiful minds and the thoughts that they vibrate out into the Universe. You came knowing your creations would be real. You knew you were safe and protected, and you knew it only required your joyful mindedness.

Then you were born into this cataclysm of fear-based programming from your parents, schools, churches, governments, banks, jobs, and recent history. You had very little choice but to be trained away from your true nature and divine mission on Earth. That is why none of you will ever be judged. Your Free Will is and always will be there for you.

It is now your Free Will that must choose to continue down the fear-based path you have trodden for so many thousands of years or do you choose to turn and take the path of Love. Even if this path is not familiar, it is the only path for your survival, and it is not to be feared. The road you are on with your life will always have many forks in it. You may be asked to choose different directions all day, every day. Just as with a map to help guide you on your journey, your internal divine connection will always help you choose the fork in the road that will take you down the path of Love.

Each and every one of you has a very distinct life plan that you created for yourself as a template for what you wanted to experience during your incarnation. This plan was built with a loving consensus of your higher self and your soul family who willingly agreed to play with you and your plan when you all entered this three-dimensional realm of existence.

Most of you have been trained and programmed away from your sacred plans. Only a few of you have reconnected with your divine self and have “unveiled” the plan that is yours. The plan is secondary only to your ability to live in joy, to create from your biggest dreams and desires, and to observe all the miracles that abound around you each day. That was your priority, creating in you, and then there is your plan to help acknowledge lessons you have chosen to expose yourself to that allow you to discern your ability to choose Love over fear.

You knew you would delight in your creations. You knew that it was to be an adventure, as many of your senses would be limited in your three-dimensional reality. And you knew that no matter what happened you would not fail and that when you returned home, and left this separation on Earth, you would be welcomed with all the Love of the Universe once again.

So what happened to so many that this beautiful plan and design of your existence has decomposed to leave so many of you living in fear? It is a long story that I will summarize for you.

When civilizations began using currency versus their innate selves to achieve their creations, a system of competition was set up that then created a belief system that money was needed for survival, versus using your divine guidance system that before then provided everything that was needed.

This competition for money was the basis of the greed and competition that all churches and religions were founded upon. Here is where major programming of the masses by a few took root. From religions flowed your governments. Then flowed more and more institutions from your schools that were designed to train you how to survive, to your industries that were essential to serve as they now provided your only source of survival through money, to the banking institutions who now preach that they are helping to protect your money. In reality, all of these institutions, governments, and churches have robbed you for thousands of years both physically and emotionally of the divine abundance that is your birthright. Period.

Every day is a blessing and another opportunity to display your magnificence. This is not the time in your existence to hide behind the veil, once you have moved it and seen and felt the other side where we are all awaiting your Awakening. I ask for you to be brave and trust the unknown. In this unknown, on the other side of the veil, you will find all that you need both personally and for your civilization.

Miracles abound. Even your simple science is proving that to you more and more each day. Your energy can be measured. Your magnetic fields around your bodies are immense, and even your connection to your higher self is being documented in the energy flow that can be measured from the crown of your head to your pineal gland, then to the chemicals it releases to the hard-wired programming of your physical body.

Your body and ego want to keep the status quo. Your current beliefs are literally hard-wired into your body, and its innate need to survive has and will continue to have you hang on to all the current limiting beliefs you have about your existence. This is your prison cell, but you hold the keys to unlock yourself from it. All it takes is your belief in your divinity and that beautiful energy that is flowing down into you and your ability to just quiet the ego and listen.

Listen quietly every day and fear nothing. Ground yourself every day and soon this powerful energy will flow through your body as a lightning bolt and cannot be denied. You will never doubt its guidance for you, as it will always be based on Love, without fear. It will never judge; it will never waiver; it will never ask you to behave in any other manner than with compassion for yourself and your fellow man. If as you are listening you hear anything different, then be aware; discern it; know it is your ego in survival mode; ask it to stand down; and then listen again.

The bravest part of this exercise is in the acknowledgement that your beliefs are wrong and not supporting you. Questioning oneself in matters of survival are deep, but you must start questioning and as you become more aware of the corruptness of those that have worked diligently to craft your belief systems to their advantage, the questioning will become easier.

The more open you become to opening your beautiful minds to divine guidance, the more you will want to question your own beliefs, and, in time, your perception of your true reality will emerge and you will understand more clearly your divine nature. You will observe the subtle shifts in yourselves and how you choose to define yourself going forward. You will also notice these shifts in those around you, and, I promise, this is you and your fellow man's path forward. You will all choose the path of Love. Some of you will move faster along this path than others, but you will all seek it, for you will understand it is your way home.

This is not a call to bring you home now. It is a call to have you live in joy and create with abundance and continue with the adventure of this lifetime you had always planned for. You never planned to live in fear or lack or competition. It is your God-given right from your Creator, our Source, to live in joy, abundance, and perfect health and to dance this dance on Earth with a wild sense of adventure, a sense of peace, and immersed in the Love that you are made of. All is available to you now.

All the while, as men create and re-create different ways to express their divinity, there is only truly one way to live the life you have been destined to live. It is to live this life Awakened. Awakened to who you really are and to your full potential. That potential is full of magnificence and miracles. It is grounded in Love and it knows, without a doubt, what it is doing, and it is taking full responsibility for all.

When a man or a child is harmed, there may be fear-based decisions that led to the outcome, but all involved were willing participants. This is a very hard concept to grasp, but it is a Universal truth. There are no mistakes. Yes, an individual's Free Will can change the course of history, but it will always represent that Free-Will choice. A Master will be at peace with all that is happening around them, at all times.

As this concept of full responsibility for yourself, as well as acknowledging that all others around you are also responsible for all, there will come a peaceful reprogramming of your belief system. Again, if you start with your observation of smaller, less significant actions, it will be easier to begin. Then allow your belief system to grow on this concept with observing your own actions and outcomes and miracles. From there you can more easily build your belief system on those actions around you and begin to process that no matter the outcome of any event, there will be found a peaceful perfection in them all.

You exist here in perfection. You are not even one percent less than any man around you in your divinity. You are all complete, and this complete incarnation is to only serve you on your own very personal level of evolution. Just as you would encourage a child taking its first steps, you should continue to encourage yourself at all the new first steps you are able to make. This gentle expansion of new ideas and thoughts and abilities that you are creating at every moment of every day are all miracles that we all are experiencing together, as we are all One.

Make no mistake, though, that there is a very distinct you in this beautiful sea of Oneness. You will always be you with all your very individualistic ways and personality. That is eternal. You need not fear your death or for any of those around you, for there is no death. There is just a beautiful transition of energies from one dimension to another, for just a bit. A death can be viewed as someone walking upstairs for a bit, perhaps out of your sight, but you know they are still there, personality unchanged, but they are just out of your sight for a while. When another chooses to walk up the stairs, they do it of their Free Will. There is no source of any energy that drags them up the stairs against their will. It is all gentle, and the decision to ascend the stairs is personal and profound.

As the time of Awakening draws closer, the energy of the masses will reveal itself in ways that will be of great comfort to many in their times of need. People need Love in its many forms for the sustenance of their lives as it feeds their divine energy. You are here now to both receive and give Love. As more of you understand that Love as a "currency" for trade in your civilization is much more powerful than a sheet of paper that embodies fear, you will Awaken to your complete ability to generate all the abundance you require at all times.

As the giving and receiving of Love among all the peoples of Earth grows, the full abundance of the planet will show itself to more and more. It will be a beautiful experience to participate in and should be done in the complete cognition that as you allow your loving energy to flow to and from you, it is as powerful as one million men who cannot feel their power as of yet. Each and every one of you is not just a small generator of a few watts of energy that you might sense is contained in your body or surroundings at most. The energy flowing through your vessel could light up a major city for hours with just one Free-Will thought of Love. This is another more difficult concept to really believe, but it is true. You are Masters, with powers that are infinite and eternal, and your ability to direct and focus these powers is part of your innate reality. Trust yourself. Feel your power, and know that as you allow it to flow with your Free Will you are tapping into the power of the Universe to create the Peace on Earth you so desire to reside within while here.

If you have ever wondered how the pyramids were built, or how the great artists created their masterpieces, or how I was able to heal, then you must understand that all these feats were accomplished using the power of the Universe that is available to you all. On this side of the veil, the Master in you knows without a doubt the powers they can wield at any time. What I and all of us on this side so desire for you now in this critical rebirth of your planet is to acknowledge your divinity and power now to allow for the creation of miracles and the flow of even more Love for you. Yes, it is magical, just as all the Universe is.

What a grand time it is for you to be here now. Reach out and grab hold of the expanded understanding of just who you really are. Break free of any one or thing that should hold you back with any fear-based reasoning or rules. Love trumps fear every time. Love with wild abandon, as you truly have nothing to lose. Play the game as the Master you are. Be alert and aware of every move you make and increasingly feel that beautiful inner energy you are: the conduit for lighting up everything around you.

Why the church usurped power

Ancient civilizations knew the power of the Universe. Through this power they were able to predict their future. At the time of my incarnation on Earth, the spirituality of the masses was very diverse. The Jewish faith had already achieved a long history. That was my first introduction to a religion while incarnated, and it did not resonate with my soul. Through my meditations and asking questions and my journeys, I found the answers. I had many teachers. There are many paths to begin to understand the beautiful Universe we live in.

My simple teachings of the truth while incarnated sent a powerful message to those who listened. I served as a transducer of the Love that every soul here on Earth is made of. The power of that Love is beyond your comprehension at this point. This power is very seductive and it is the reason why those who sought to gain power over others chose to use it.

There were many reasons and many men and many leaders in many different countries that tapped into the power of touching your spirituality. This power is innate, and for you it is in your every fiber. And, when there is a call to open up, your natural tendency will always be to move towards that call of Love. This is what the churches knew, and this was the foundation for their creation.

I want to speak today of Hinduism. It is a spiritual way of life whose existence has withstood the test of time. It is eloquent, sublime, and noble. It is truly a model for the future of Earth in terms of its ability to be integrated into the corrupt teachings of the Christian Church. On a similar thread, Buddhism is also a most wonderful teaching for man. It is the language of spirituality for Ascension for many. These teachings of the East are profound, with a simplicity and elegance that all men who are Awakening will resonate with. The internal light and knowing of one's divine grace through quiet introspection is the perfect anecdote for the untruths of the Church's teachings. Meditation for all is essential. Even for two minutes a day to allow for the connection with your divine higher self. If you can believe in yourself, then you will easily be led to knowing your divinity. It is your birthright, and not one individual is excluded on Earth.

As you explore your magnificent nature and your connection to your divine source, you will be guided gently and Awakened. Awakened to the complete beauty of your soul which will then lead you to the mastery of your existence on Earth for this go-around.

Quietly listen. Pay attention to the voice you will come to know as your ego. Ask it to be still and quiet. Then listen with the relaxation and knowing that your higher self wants so much for you to understand more of your existence and mission for this lifetime, but also to guide you at all times with divine knowledge of what is best for your happiness. Yes, many of you may find it very hard to believe and accept, but your life here and now is meant to be one full of abundance and joy. No one need suffer for a moment. This is a relative idea and a personal one, as we are aware of the vast differences in terms of economic wealth between individuals. Many holding what you would view as complete abundance carry burdens that many living simple or harsh lives would not be able to bear. The opposite is true as well. You are all on your own path, a path you predetermined before your birth, and not one of you believed that your path would be anything but divine as you entered your mother's womb for birth. Then the disconnection process began and you were programmed away from your divine knowledge of how to live in abundance and grace no matter what scenarios were pulled forward for you to meet. Yes, your parents were involved, but at the root for many were the untruths and lies of the Church. So, I am bringing this idea full circle now for you.

Meditation for all is essential

You were born of your own divinity.

You are still divine.

You have an open communication channel to your divine soul.

You have Free Will. No one can take that from you.

You are responsible for you and all that you have manifested.

You can change anything with your intention.

Your best intentions can be known by going within for guidance from your higher self.

This is a grand and beautiful time to Awaken. This term may seem to be overused or not even understood before, but this is the time for Awakening.

All of those times when there was a sense of doubt within a man's heart as to the truths of the Church's teachings should serve as an excellent point of reference between choosing Love over fear, as your body and mind will respond to the cognition of a Universal truth versus a controlling fear-based doctrine. You were trained to accept doctrines to conform through fear, and as the indoctrinations became more grounded into your sub-conscious you lost the ability to discern and listen to your higher selves.

There are many practices that were put in place to promote the fear and cloud your own connections. Meditating with a mind that must stay still and be empty is one. A meditation of stillness should, in fact, relax you into listening for your guidance, not shutting it out. Your mind will feel active and alive and connected as your higher self opens up communication with you. It is a beautiful process.

Sacrifices are a topic that most men now know were not the inspiration of the divine, yet many men today still sacrifice in many different forms to appease the fear-based systems of control of the Church. Let it be known that no doctrine of sacrifice is ever a choice for Love, but only of fear. No one or church has any right to tell you, as the Master you are, that you must behave in a way that involves any type of suffering as a chosen path to your divinity. No one need ever suffer even for a moment in your beautiful incarnations.

The choice to reach for is one of service to others, not a choice to take something or deny something or deprive yourself of anything your heart may desire. This is an absolute false truth that was put in place with fear to control you. As you Awaken to this lie of control and begin moving to more practices of service to others with an open heart that is joyful in the service you will move your programming away from the vicious hold it has held over so many of you. Choose Love for yourself first, and as that grows and your worthiness blooms from within, and as you can hear more clearly the divine within yourself, then you will all move forward in an existence of Love that will envelop you and reach its mighty reach to all those around you.

As many men will learn in their Awakening to their divinity, there will be a process of both an unfolding of new ideas and concepts about their existence, as well as a de-programming of the false fear-based truths. These evolutions in one's consciousness will happen together. This is my dream for mankind in these days of transition for your civilizations. If no progression is made toward a belief in my teachings presented here now you must know that it will not alter or diminish any of the Love for each and every one of you. That is eternal.

It is my promise to you, though, that if you can progress with a knowing towards your Awakening of your true nature as the Master you all are and not a servant to the churches that may be your point of attraction, you will serve yourself and the planet at a much higher level of divinity. You are serving now with your existence, which is already a miracle in itself, but there is so much more to understand and accept for most of you of the Universal truths that I am sharing with you.

Now you must take power back

There is a world in the multi-dimensional realm that is so magnificent it is truly beyond comprehension. Your existence on Earth was never meant to keep it from you, but rather it was to serve as a powerful, very direct guidance system for you at all times.

Many on Earth speak of Angels, guides, and energies that have a benevolent interaction with many who ask. The key here is in the asking. There can be no interaction without the asking to maintain the sacredness of your Free-Will nature.

The term omnipotent is a concept understood but not believed by many. It is real and fabulous in its multi-dimensional power and reach. To be Illuminated means to carry your own light. It is a relative concept, and, as I have spoken of before, your soul's ability to receive and integrate the light is a measure of — or shall I say feature of — omnipotence. The more of the light you can hold the more omnipotent, multi-dimensional, and powerful you become. I would like you to equate omnipotence with Love, because that is what it is.

The focused Love in the Illuminated Masters of your Universe is profound. It is exciting. It is beautiful and the magnet for many of your desires. We all stand ready to help with the Ascension of your planet. For those who already hold more light, the acknowledgment of your connections to the Illuminated Masters will be gentle and natural. But, like going from a warm sunny day lying on a beach to being immersed in an ice bath, for others holding, or more specifically just focusing on, less light, with a greater balance of dark energy, the impact of their connections with the light Masters will be extreme. Extreme in the most wondrous of ways as they become “lit up,” many for the first time in a long time. The scale of the energy shift in these souls will actually have the greatest impact on the energy shift of your planet. It will look to us as if lights are being turned on in places that have held only dark, and the new sites and visions of those of the new beautiful Earth will be magnificent for them. Imagine the beauty of a two-year-old who has been blind and is presented with a pair of eyeglasses, to see its mother and surroundings for the first time. The joy of turning on this new sense and the elation is almost indescribable. And, for those souls who are having the light turned on by a touch from one of us, the impact will be the same and more beautiful than words can describe.

We, the Illuminated ones, stand ready, and we can be called on immediately. I, Jesus Christ as I am known, should be called on. I know of the many who call on me through prayer, and that is beautiful, but my message to you now is clear: you must understand your own power and light to connect to the Oneness of the Universe. You must all begin to “light” yourselves up. It will be a process. It will not take long. That is why we are also excited to be working with you as you are asking.

Ask. Ask. Ask. We will then come to you. We expect to come in and literally shock you with our presence and light. We will shock you in the most beautiful and divine ways that you will not be able to stop talking about it. That is the key. You will not be able to keep from sharing your experiences with us. The dialogues will start. The networking of the masses of the light workers you are will begin, and it will be unstoppable.

It is a light with guidance. You will begin to know it from your Higher Self. It will usurp any and all power that your churches and other institutions have taken from you. Ours is an exercise in the power of divine Love which is the basis of the Universe.

Even when it seems that you may be lost in the sea of emotion and beliefs that have controlled your existence to date and that the ability to reach into your divinity is unattainable, you must know and understand from your heart that it is. Your ability to pull yourself up with a full knowledge and intention of where you want to proceed is always available to you. All you need do is begin to ask, believe it, trust it; then relax into all the joy and miracles that surround you.

As you begin your journey to freedom, you will be shown the way. You are never alone and, like children lined up for a parade, there are so many guides and angels and family on this side of the veil cheering you on and helping you keep on track as the parade of your life moves forward. Your life is a parade. Your personal journey for this incarnation and your Free Will designs all the beautiful experiences you can imagine each day.

Make no mistake — your Free Will allows you to move this parade of experiences anywhere you choose, but if you let your heart lead the way, the journey will be so much more beneficial to you and all those around you. Your parade of life does not stop. You, as an eternal being, will take this parade right up into the other side of the veil with us when you choose, and the cheering by all from the sidelines continues eternally.

This parade of your life is a magnificent magnet of emotions that your belief system creates and reaches out to touch those around you. When you understand the power you own to impact so many lives on the planet, just by choosing the emotion of joy from within, your reality will change, and with that your belief system will be reprogrammed, this time by you. You will choose what is right for you every time. And with smaller and then larger thoughts and beliefs, you will be able to unleash yourselves from your old beliefs and delight in your power to create new ones based on your joy.

Your selfishness to commit to this process is what I and all on this side of the veil so want you to begin to create with. Leave all others' wellbeing out of the picture for now. You must experience no guilt, for there is no sin and there are no victims. Period.

For many, the easiest way to begin to build the joyful life you deserve may be to start small.

Take a few extra minutes each day in what will turn into habits that will serve you.

Lay in bed an extra minute before arising and call up something to appreciate in the day before you.

Look into your morning mirror, into your eyes, and feel the power of your divine self in the beauty of your vessel reflected back to you.

Take your shoes off and walk on grass with bare feet.

Look into the eyes of a beast, such as your dog or cat, and you will always see and feel unconditional Love reflected back at you.

Take a nap.

Gaze at the stars with an open heart and mind.

Spend a few minutes listening to your breath.

It is impossible when you begin doing these small steps for you to believe that you may be affecting any other person around you in any manner that one would label as self-centered, taking anything from anyone else, or committing any type of sin. These beautiful beginning actions are already programmed into your belief system as being unlimited and available for all who ask. There is no need for a monetary exchange to achieve any of them. You "believe" that they are achievable, attainable, and acceptable. You believe you can have a right to do all without judgment. You may choose the time and place for all that feels the best for you, and it allows you to relax into the pleasantness of all.

When you begin doing any of these small actions, I want you to pay attention to how you feel. You should feel relaxed. You should feel happy. You should feel content. You may feel the power of your ability to create this small pleasure. Let it unfold for you, and then be joyful that you allowed it to manifest.

You must acknowledge now and memorize these feelings, because this is what your entire existence was planned to feel like. This is you, allowing your divinity to help you create in joy something you did with intention. Feel it, and then know that you are literally programming yourself with intention. Just as you learned to walk, which is controlled by your subconscious programming, these tasks will become programmed, except that now this sense of accomplishment can be taken to the next step.

I want you to step it up now and pick something else that will bring you joy in its creation and with these same feelings of ease, knowing that it can be achieved with only an intention, a desire, and your Free Will choice.

For many it will still seem inconceivable, but this is how all the Laws of the Universe coalesce and provide the ease with which you may create anything you desire. This is the magic of your existence that has been denied to you. This is what must end, and your knowledge that it is even a potential new way of living your life will start you down a path of living your true divine self, as always intended, as you walk Mother Earth.

Upon the dawn of a new civilization there will come a radiant desire of all men for Peace on Earth. This lofty goal may appear unattainable, but it is within your reach as the planet Ascends. The Awakening process that is occurring within all your beautiful minds is your lighted path of Love towards Ascension, and with that the peaceful and joyful existence you were meant to dwell in on Earth will be fulfilled. With this, the heavens will sing and a vibration of your success will ring out through the Universe.

All of the miracles that await you, all the magic, begins within you. You do not need to form groups to protest your current conditions, because as a collective consciousness you were part of its creation and bringing focus to the conditions you want to change will just make it more difficult to change.

Your entire focus must be within. Forget everything else for a bit until you have grounded yourself in the knowledge of your power and intention. Once you know this with no question and your belief system is reprogrammed so that you completely trust your divine guidance system, then you may place your intention on the Peace on Earth you seek for yourself and all men, and with that the Universe will bring it to you. You need do nothing else except trust the process. It will be done.

You must then learn to speak and act as if it already exists. You must speak of your abundance in terms of the joy it brings to your existence, and you must smile at the abundance of each of your brothers.

There will come a time when the Ascension of your planet has manifested into the beauty of what can already be seen in the heavens. My words here are meant to get you there sooner than later, but it is entirely up to you.

Yes, your fellow man must do the same, but it is not your job to do anything other than shine the light of your newly found divine power that will attract more of the same from all those around you. Ask for nothing of your fellow man except that he find the peace he seeks within himself through his own guidance system, not your guidance system. When your brothers and sisters can connect, you will all be connected through our own divine consciousness and then, and only then, will we all work together in harmony.

I am holding a feeling of the utmost enthusiasm for all who can join in with the Earth's Ascension. It is a magical time for all who are incarnated and dwelling here as the Universe watches your progress. There is a hum of excitement and the deepest desire of all who are watching that you be able to acknowledge, in full consciousness, this process of Awakening within you and the planet with joy and appreciation. We want you to be aware of this time with a full understanding of your participation in the process while you are incarnated. As this is achieved by more and more of you and your confidence and trust in the Ascension of Earth grows, it will be a self-fulfilling prophecy.

The meek shall inherit the Earth. This means that your attention to this gentle process within yourselves will keep you grounded. Your appreciation will bring you inner joy, and your need to compete will dissolve as you emerge as the "gentle giants" you all are.

There will be tests for all of you along your journeys, just as you had always planned, and as there was for me. In this process, as your tests arise, you are to quickly recognize them as the opportunities they are to choose wisely. To choose the path of Love and carry on to the next fork in the road. Where once a test of your conviction was felt within you as a burden, you will now grow into feeling a true delight, as your confident knowing of how to proceed will be a joy and satisfaction to you. Your confidence will build day by day in playing this game of choosing Love over fear.

This is an inner game of growth, and, I repeat, it is not your path to boast of your progress along the path to others as that is your ego being competitive. Your divine self will recognize the paths and progress of others with Love, and it will provide you all the Love and acknowledgement of your progress from within. You will find a growing and deepening Love for yourself, and that alone will have such immense, far-reaching effects that you cannot even begin to comprehend.

Where we are headed

Even on what may appear to your conscious self as an act of sin from your misguided programming, I will reiterate: there is no sin in your existence or that of your entire civilization. Everything you and all around you experience has been co-created from the varying mix of all your beliefs and emotions.

To that end, your magnificent connection to your divine source — and with its guidance, your newly found beliefs and emotions in choosing the path of Love over fear — will change your civilization and your time-space reality. This metamorphosis can occur almost immediately.

The start again begins with only you and the full adventure we want you to take inside yourself. You can view yourself as a mystic traveler seeking to uncover the most magical treasure the Earth has yet to discover, and when you do you will realize that this treasure is you. You are your own gift to the Universe. If you can cognize this miracle, you will discover an inner peace that is blissful beyond your understanding.

Eat well
Hydrate Move your body at whatever motion feels good

Our best advice to you is to close off as many systems and interferences as you can to allow you more time to explore your magnificent self. There will be a balance that only you will know how to move forward through in the adventure. Turn off your newspaper and television subscriptions. Stop reading your magazines that hold any advertisements. Stop going to your church. Yes, this is a big one. Stop attending social functions with others that may judge your journey inward. Stop all your social media posts and inquiries.

Do take good care of yourself. Eat well. Hydrate. Move your body at whatever motion feels good. Do your best to get enough sleep. Yes, many of you will still need to commute to your jobs and interact with many distractions and challenges each day, but use this time to discern your beliefs between Love and fear and feel your success.

Talk to yourself. You will see, hear, or feel the guidance. After seven days of turning down the programming by others, you will hear the divine. You will also hear, more loudly, your ego, who will protest all these new voices and crave the old programming you are turning off. That is okay. Be patient. Listen. Discern.

Each and every time one of you explores deeper into your divine consciousness you open up new neural pathways throughout your entire body. It is like learning a new language, the language of your soul. And as you continue to practice, more and more cognition of this new language will become wired into your subconscious. And, just as the new words of a newly learned language will flow more easily, your divine guidance will flow as well. When you know and believe you know these foreign words, so shall you know and believe your divine language. They both have the ability to be hard-wired into your subconscious. This is the most direct way to begin to change the corrupt beliefs that are now hard-wired within you.

Practice. Stay with it, even if only for a few minutes a day, and soon you will be articulating this new language. Meditating is like moving to the country of the new language you are learning and immersing yourself in the new culture. And your rate of programming your ability to speak this new language when all around you are speaking it, and you want and desire to communicate, accelerates your learning immensely. The same is true of your divine connection. When you can immerse yourself in it and desire to communicate with your divine higher self, it will be more easily achieved. This metaphor of speaking a new language as equivalent to speaking to your divine consciousness is one that should feel comfortable to you, even if you have never spoken a second language, because your belief system will tell you from your life experiences, it is possible.

The language of the divine is simple. It is the language of Love at all times and is already hard-wired into your conscious. It has just too often taken a “back seat” to the aggressive, directed with purpose programming of so many institutions and people you have been exposed to. You do not have to re-learn this new divine language. You need only allow it to re-emerge into your conscious more often until it is the language you speak most often.

Every day is a new day to practice, and as you build your confidence in your ability to speak and then act from Love, you will transform yourself and the lives and those around you. As many of you Awaken to this new reality and freedom of connecting with your divine self you will feel a new sense of “lightness” in your lives. Knowing and, more so, believing in your eternal divinity will allow you to play more each day. As you continue to focus each day within, you will find the rest of the day will become more playful, beautiful, and loving. With this new-found knowledge you will feel and notice all the miracles that surround you at all times.

You are living in a dream that is a miracle and that you are entirely responsible for. Do not let others take your dreams away from you. Continue to dream bigger and bigger each day and continue to free yourself from the constraints of your old programming of service to others for your survival from a fear-based motivation. As you transition to a life of service to others from a loving and abundant motivation, as you know you have all you need, then the real magic begins. The magic of your destiny is to know, believe without a doubt, and feel your divine nature and just how powerful it is.

When you are grounded in your divine power, and as you are awakened to your divine guidance and you act from your heart with Love, you will create Peace on Earth for yourself, and as your peaceful existence expands, so will that of your fellow man.

Nothing is more important than this

I want to speak to you now of humility. If you judge a man who is slower on the path that you have chosen for yourself, you are being foolish in that every man is a Master and your thought of judgment will be a light that is shown back to your own consciousness. When this happens, it is important to take a minute and reflect on what is processing inside of you that created the judgmental thought. This is the Law of Attraction at work, and its power is Universal.

Even in the most significant matters of the heart, there is an opportunity to always choose Love over fear. No matter what emotion you may be experiencing from a broken heart with a lower frequency to the highest frequency of experiencing bliss, your conscious choice of choosing Love will always set you down the right path.

Fear nothing. Love everything. Live and act by these words. It will transform your existence and, by doing so, it will help to transform those around you in the most beautiful way. The choice between fear and Love is easily heard at all times from your divine conscious, as it knows how to fully live in Love at all times. When you choose fear, two things will happen. First, it will not feel good. When that happens, acknowledge it, and choose again. Second, you will become more aware of how your ego attaches itself to every decision for fear, and that is its fuel. Every mistaken choice of fear over Love is a beautiful opportunity for growth and for a greater understanding of how your beautiful divine consciousness works, and how it feels, as well as teaching you big lessons about how your ego and subconscious behave. Knowing this difference is of the utmost importance in the opening up and the acknowledgement of your true divine nature.

Even when a man has a theory of what is right and wrong because of his subconscious programming, he can still review his daily decisions in terms of it. They are choices of Love or of fear. The acknowledgement consciously that a choice you feel is right and then when you cognize that it is a choice of fear, not Love, it will start to disrupt your automatic thinking about your existence. This is your time of discernment: to use your conscious mind to acknowledge your thoughts and evaluate if they are serving you as your divine self or serving others.

Remember this is a journey on a path to an enlightened Awakening. No one is judging you, but we ask that you now question and analyze your thoughts. You have complete power over your thoughts, and with them you have complete power over your reality and existence. Change your thoughts and your reality will change.

As you acknowledge fear-based thoughts and replace them with the choice of Love, you will feel better, but you will also be challenged by your ego. Be gentle with both sides. Calm your ego down with a thought of Love and feel your power as you can move your conscious thought from fear to Love with no negative impact on anything. It is a beautiful process, and just as you may have learned to drive a car and it took practice to coordinate all the muscular movements in your body and those of the car and your environment to drive you down a road, this process will put you on a new path that is your destiny.

You have complete
power over
your thoughts, and with them you have complete
power over your reality
and existence

Just as a baby taking its first steps and falling over would never be ridiculed, nor shall you as you begin this process of discernment. And as that baby is cheered on with each successful step, you too are being cheered on by so many. As you then connect to your divine consciousness you too shall hear and feel the loving cheers of encouragement for you. Be gentle. Be curious about all of this. Become grounded. And more knowing as you progress down the path. As you do, you will feel your power and you will learn to trust yourself to know and take responsibility for your creations.

This is what you came for. To be put into situations that cannot exist on our side of the veil, then to choose for yourself and know it is done and it was because of your thoughts. All of your thoughts are powerful and none can be denied you. Choose wisely. Choose Love more often. Choose and acknowledge your discernment, and, with that, more powers than you can imagine will unfold into your existence.

As we are all one, and always will be, your choices for Love are truly a reflection back onto yourself. You are choosing Love for yourself and therefore loving yourself more. Always. You are never sacrificing anything by choosing Love, but you are harming yourself and the world in varying degrees by choosing fear.

Even when the times of one's life appear to be in disarray, even when some have given up hope, and especially when some just want this incarnation to end, many times this is the very best of times to begin new processes which will then lead to new beliefs. The dark before the light should be viewed as a beautiful opportunity for growth. The light is always calling all of you forward in the most gentle and loving means if you can communicate with it. And, as you relax and connect to this guidance in the times of confusion, you will be so relieved.

Trusting yourself, your inner self, especially in times of trouble can be difficult, but it is your friend, and just as you innately can feel your "gut" giving you guidance, which it is, your turning inside and feeling and knowing your divine guidance will never let you down.

The more you can practice your divine connection for fun in times of ease, the more easily it will be to follow it in times of need. Play with your connection so it becomes a habit. A habit you can trust just as making morning coffee or driving your car, so that it is practiced with complete ease and a knowing that it will be done. We all want your connections to become second-nature and then you will shift your beliefs to more of an acknowledgement and full understanding of your existence.

Even once in a while there comes a time when the world may seem to be an inhospitable place and that allows for beliefs that have been programmed into you for fear to come up and justify themselves to your conscious through the ego part of you. The negative thoughts generated are your choice alone. You can see something for you that appears dark and you have the choice again of giving it your attention with fear, or you can choose to look at the Love that is embodied in the belief.

This existence of duality in all of the Universe is a difficult concept for many to understand. You might ask if the goal is to always choose the path of Love, then when our civilization gets there, how can there be any darkness? I am here to tell you that the duality of the Universe and the existence of the dark is what drew you to this incarnation and the grand Universal school of learning you are immersed in.

If all on Earth was as it is in Heaven, or our side of the veil, then there would be no growth or expansion of the Universe, which is why you came. You came to "mix it up" with situations of both dark and light, which gives you the opportunity to choose. Your every choice, every day, is what is giving new meaning to your divine soul. Your choices are all monitored. Your beliefs are all acknowledged, and your thoughts as they are developed are all a part of your consciousness.

Some of your divine souls have come here very specifically to create "contrast" or what you may call darkness from your internal belief system. These souls are here with you, connected to you and all, and are playing a significant and beautiful role in the expansion of the Universe. It is a beautiful dance of dark and light and the most wondrous opportunity of growth it presents for you all.

You need not worry again about what any other person's guidance system is providing or not providing to them when your belief systems begin interpreting something you believe is dark. This is your most beautiful signal from within that here before you lies an opportunity of growth within yourself as well as growth for the Universe. What is your action in these scenarios? Choose Love. No matter how emotional any situation may be, choose the path of Love. Do not waiver. Trust your internal guidance and listen closely to it in times of what you perceive as darkness. It will guide you gently to see the light in everything, and it will encourage you to seek the higher path of Love.

So, so many of your self-programmed subconscious beliefs and your ego will fight you with choosing Love over fear in these situations. The harder the struggle is for you, the more you must know and appreciate the significance of the lesson being placed before you and the magnitude of your potential growth.

When the choice of Love over fear is easy, yes, it is acknowledged. When the choice is difficult, but you choose Love, the growth of your soul's divinity is bigger. When the choice of Love over fear in what you would consider a horrific or heart-wrenching situation is made, and you choose from within, with a complete knowing of the Love that is also being presented in the situation, then you are truly moving worlds and your growth is immense.

You are never meant to suffer in the growth of learning to choose Love. It may seem like that when your beliefs tell you that the darkness cannot be acceptable to Love, but you must train yourself to look at the duality in all. I am not asking that you pretend the darkness does not exist. It will be real for you in your self-generated reality. I am asking that you look for the light as well and then choose to focus on where the light exists and then choose with full knowing the path of Love and move away from your beliefs of the fear based in darkness. If you focus on the fear, and your beliefs give it energy, it will be reflected back on you. If you can look at the dark side, acknowledge the duality in all, and then focus and choose the path of Love it is generating, you will be moving closer to your divinity.

This is your game. The Earth has generated so many deep lessons for all of your growth. As more and more of you Awaken, as more paths of Love are chosen, time and time again, as you master your belief system over that of your programming by others, then you will consciously watch the Awakenings of your planet.

There will not be an "army of Light workers" that bands together and overcomes the "army of Dark" ever. The only game is an internal one within each soul. It is private. It is profound. It has Universal recognition. It is not what you may read about in the news or get updated on at your church or keep score of with anyone else. This is your personal game for your incarnation. My words here are meant to help you play this game as it was meant to be played, with full knowledge of the rules of our divine Universe, and not the rules your society has programmed you with. When they pass through the veil, each and every man wins their game. And when they knowingly play the game on your side of the veil, it becomes a blessing of Love for all and the path to Peace on Earth for all.

There is a magnificence in the beauty of all the decisions you make in this incarnation. This is what you came into this lifetime for. To test your skills and to learn more about yourselves and to knowingly be a part of the expansion of the Universe with your new-found capacities for Love. As you expand, we all expand, as we are all one. With a clear understanding of this, you will know that the more both you and your brothers choose Love over fear, we all expand together.

In my incarnation, the choices I made became easier and easier for Love as I was guided about the rules of this "game." I came to learn, as are you. I came and was also under the veil, and I, too, was programmed from an early age by my parents and the Church as to how I was to behave. But I also felt the spark of another truth, the real truth of the Universe, deep in my soul. I did not dismiss this calling, but rather explored it daily. I looked at many explanations and listened to many stories of what the “right” existence for me should be, from how to pray, whose guidance to listen to, what age to do this and that, and especially what to fear. So many of these teachings ran so against my inner voice that I trusted myself and began questioning my own programming and – hear this clearly now – I asked for guidance and I truly listened. When I listened, I heard the truth, which was a different philosophy and approach to life, and it made my heart sing with the resonance and coherence it created. I was so excited that I could not stop talking about an alternative path of existence for all. This was when I realized I was born to be a teacher.

My quest to understand how the rest of the world viewed their existence was immense and the impetus for me to make my journey abroad. It was a wondrous time for me as I learned of alternative belief systems. I learned of becoming a more powerful channel from the divine, all from within me. I saw peaceful and relaxed and loving cultures. I learned to respect all men’s differences. As I listened more and more, I learned that by choosing Love over fear I was then living the life I came to explore.

I am telling you this now so you understand you are doing nothing more than I did. I was able to discern and step out of the programming by others at a time that made it much easier than now. So much momentum with the corrupt institutions has infiltrated so much of your existence now that the challenge is so much greater to connect and truly feel and believe you can choose Love without fear.

Even though I walked alone in many of the ideologies of the time, I was not afraid. I understood the truth that was being channeled to me, and I yearned for my fellow brothers at the time to know their power. I knew and experienced the beauty of this divine power and its truth in leading us to the life we were all destined to live.

My teachings at the time were the same as my words now. That is because they are timeless and eternal. If you listen to the God within you, it will acknowledge this truth, for it is undeniable. There is magnificence in this in a time when most people are leading an existence that is not necessary nor of value to themselves, their civilization, or the planet. But all of that can change, and faster than most may believe. The change will come from within. Most visualize that all on our side of the veil is happening above the Earth’s atmosphere. This is a difficult concept to grasp, but the veil and the entire Universe are existing within you now in your divine spark that is located in your heart center. You need not take a ship up into the ether to be near us on this side of the veil; you need only look inside yourself.

You are the Universe. You are one with all. You are the Creator. And you are magnificent. Even the most spiritual among you, who may understand more than most, will still not be able to fully grasp and believe this to be true. Even if you can conceptualize that all matter is energy, which it is, if you can believe that time is an illusion in your time-space reality, and even if you can know, hear, and feel your divine connections, the belief that all is within you is difficult to comprehend, but it is the truth. So, where can you go with this? You go within, and by going within your consciousness and changing your beliefs, you will change your world and the Universe.

The Universal consciousness that is within you is also within each and every cell in your body. Your cells communicate and work as their civilization, on your behalf, and on their own behalf, as we are all one. These cells understand more than you the significance of their Universal connection, as they are pure energy, untainted by the sub-programming you have received. They live purely in Love and knowing with a purpose to help you thrive and support your vessel on its mission of creation and expansion of the Universe. This treatise will not go into further details of the biology of your vessel. I only point to this reference to help you Awaken to the true magnificence of the Universal power you hold and control with your Free Will.

My desire is that as you begin to “peek” inside by connecting with your divine consciousness, you will begin to feel and believe more of your power. You are not now and will never be a victim of any circumstance. You are a Master on a path of growth, and you cannot stop for even one moment in contributing to the expansion of the Universe. Just as you could not take any action to stop the cellular function in your bodies while incarnated, you cannot stop the expansion of the Universe with your thoughts, one by one.

This is the time to take back control. You need rely only on yourself. You are your own Master who knows deep within all the Laws of the Universe and knows the Love you came here to bask in as you create. To create in joy, with complete abundance and to live with Peace on Earth as a brother to all men.

Although each and every man, woman, and child has the ability to behave and act as the Master they are, so very few do. When one of you does connect, use your guidance and know your power, you are deemed miracle workers. You are all miracle workers, as was I. Creating miracles under the umbrella of Love was the plan for your species. Coupled with your Free Will, the entire Universe who took part and watched in your creation all believed you would exist in Heaven on Earth with Peace on Earth.

There were some cosmic updates to your timeline that altered the plan of execution of the advancement of your civilization. I shall not describe them here, as it is of no significance now, but I will communicate that this disruption allowed for an infiltration of energy that attracted, by the Law of Attraction, choices of fear that evolved into many of the corrupt systems that are existing on your planet now.

On this side of the veil, it is so clear. On your side of the veil for most, it is not. Again, there are no victims in this scenario and there is no judgment of any, other than the call for so many of us on this side to help you remember who you are and to live more joyful creative lives, and to do so in balance with your beautiful planet.

Gone are the days when a man incarnates and takes no responsibility for his actions. All men are aware at varying levels of their choices of Love over fear, even if they are understood in different feelings or emotions. Those of you now that are “depressed” have chosen fear as your path for too long, and it was conditioned into you from birth. In these times it takes strength to reach for Love because it breaks so many rules of your society.

This is your biggest mission with this incarnation: To know there are two paths and to choose wisely. With this cognition of your choices, you will begin to awaken your mastery, and you will know your ability to become the miracle worker you are.

There are many stories I can tell you to help you conceptualize your existence. The metaphors I used for these stories when I spoke to the peoples of the region on Earth when I walked it had to be much different. Their understanding of the Earth was so much more limited than what any man who walks the Earth now understands. Therefore, you need different stories to impress upon you the magnificence of your power in this incarnation and how the Universe is operating “in” and around you.

On one hand you could believe that by knowing more of your external world it would be easier to understand more of the unknown, but, in fact, at this point in your civilization the absolute opposite is true. With all of your false and corrupt programming it is an order of magnitude harder for you to believe my words to you. This effort for me to come back to you and give you my best guidance is more oriented to fixing the false beliefs. Then, with that opening in your consciousness, we can work on your divine connections.

The one “card” I am playing now for you all is that your belief in my existence with my own divine connection was and is still real; therefore, if you believe these channeled words are truly from me, then your belief in my divinity speaking to you these truths will allow for a reset in your current belief. A reset that has been very specifically designed by myself and many around me on this side of the veil. A reset that is meant to free you of your limiting beliefs as we have described.

I will reiterate... if you stay with my words throughout this book, to the end, and then ask for me to appear for you, I will. Period. It will be a profound moment for you, and it will be a delightful and loving experience for me to be with you. I am ready. Are you? Keep reading!

I will appear for you all

My power is omnipotent. I am connected to you all in your ability to transcend the lies and to emerge with the beauty that is your soul. That is the objective. For too many years the truth has been hidden to you.

I want to do something magical and magnificent for each of you. A call from you to me will be of your own creation. The size does not matter. The most important thing is your belief. I am here for you. My request is that your creation be such that it will move you to believe in the words I am writing now. If you need guidance, just ask. Asking is your prayers. I will be there as I always am.

I have intended for a very long time to come back to you. The love I feel for you all is so deep. You are all children of God, as am I. I am your brother. As I start to appear for you, I do not want you to be frightened. I know already that many of you will be overwhelmed with fear based on your programming in feeling like you are not enough or have failed me in some way or with some sin. I am here to tell you that I am your brother, and when we meet it will be gentle and loving, and we will connect as I did with those when I walked the Earth.

You must remember this, and I ask that you feel the Love of our connection, because it is divine Love that is what we are all made of.

You may ask for me in prayer, but do not ask for me in your church. You may ask for me in your dreams, but it may be more real if you are awake or keeping your mind quiet with meditation. Otherwise, the choice is yours as to where and when.

Once we connect and your belief system is reset, I ask that you question everything and review it against the paradigm of Love or fear I have been telling you of. I ask that you keep this playful and light, as that is what you had planned for in this incarnation. Do not let the fear of my power or your power take root. It will come up for many of you, but continue to choose wisely. Do not give any fear of our meeting any power. Ask and accept our meeting with an open heart and I promise you it will be beautiful.

My connection with you is meant to greet and guide you to a new way of existing in Love and connection to your divine self. At my side are your own guides and divine self-guidance systems to open and awaken you. Your own system stands ready to help you 24x7 with anything and any thought you may want guidance on. It is your personal line and connection and cannot be overused. In time, you will know it as your road map to home.

But in the interim, now, with your beautiful incarnation, you must play, laugh, create, Love all, notice all the miracles around you, and create with your thoughts an even more beautiful existence for you. This is what we all want on this side of the veil. Your play and joy absolutely will be lifting your energy as well as that of your civilization, the Earth, and the Universe.

After all of your bad programming, you may be thinking and feeling guilty that this is too easy, that you must work and strive to help others, must give to others because you are too small to make an impact such as this through your joy alone. Listen clearly now as that programming is deep for most and some of the very hardest for you to unravel. Your joy will set you free, and your Love for yourself will be one in the same as that for your fellow man.

You must feel your way into your new Love-based existence. It should never cause you to suffer. When you knowingly choose Love, and know it, you will never harm another, give any less than all you have, nor ever have committed an act based in fear.

This will all take practice. When you know that you have chosen fear, acknowledge it, be easy, reflect, and be patient. Many of you will grasp this new reality quickly and want to “win” the game fast. There is no finish line, there is no competition with your fellow man, and there is no judgment. There is only divine Love pouring down on you with gratitude for your soul’s adventure in coming down to play and learn more of Love.

You will be surprised when you discover just how much of your civilization is ready to play this new “game” of existence in Love. So many of you feel the wrongness in your religions and governments and institutions, but it has appeared that overcoming their rules which you have been forced to play by would need a Herculean force to change. I tell you now that each one of you is that force, and individually, one by one as you take your power back and use your divine mastery, you will impact immediate changes to those who have heretofore been the power brokers of your civilization. Those power brokers will encourage the status quo “protests” of them as they absolutely know they will be ineffective in affecting any change to their institutions.

They also understood your individual power, and that is why it has been so heavily manipulated. But now, you all individually, just by going within, are going to change this game, and those power brokers will fail and no longer will the game be played by their corrupted rules.

This will, in fact, create the incoherence and chaos that is fully expected when mammoths of this size are unleashed and then crumble. They will create unnecessary havoc in their defeat. In these times, you must trust yourself. Look within for your divine guidance. Be patient and self-assured. This is what you came for. And in the end, when the dust has settled and you know and believe you contributed to the freeing of yourself and your brothers in a loving manner, you will smile and be so grateful to have been walking the Earth in these times. That is my promise to you.

Many are the times I have already been at your side, but you just did not feel, hear, or understand. With your new-found divine connection, you now will. So many of your senses will awaken, as well. The sky will be bluer, the grass greener, and the air sweeter and filled with the freshness of Gaia.

As we reset your beliefs together in this new world paradigm, which does not include religions, there will be beautiful opportunities for your communities to rebuild and realign your church buildings. This process of transformation will be much easier for those local church gathering places in more remote areas. The resistance you will know and feel for the larger churches in more populated areas will be much greater. The loving small community in the countryside will be able to work together to affect the transformation so much more easily than the Vatican or Mormon Tabernacle, which will create a massive resistant force when faced with their demise.

Be gentle with them all. There is time, and the more loving the efforts are in coming together, the more graceful the transitions will be.

I am now in a position of light to be able to see many probable timelines for your civilization. Yes, your existence now and going forward will be based on many variables. It is so important for you all to know individually that the most important variable is your control and recognition of your divine consciousness. It is one thousand times more powerful than electing any one governmental party over another or choosing to protect any cause that you feel will help your planet or lining up as you have been programmed to believe is the “right” way so as to contribute to your society. I will implore you to put all those false beliefs away and focus on yourself and your divine connection, and with that only then will you begin to “move the mountains” that are needed for your Peace on Earth.

There will be a tipping point for your survival. As you get closer with your mass consciousness, the efforts of those that have not yet aligned will become a much greater distraction for you in many ways. This should be viewed as a triumph for you personally and in no way a setback. Hold your light. Allow your fellow man to hold his light his way. If a fellow man has chosen fear, let it be. Do not work to “fix” his fear, as you will only add energy to it. Stay on your road of light and Love with a complete knowing that energy in this mode is truly one thousand, if not one million, times more powerful. Believe in your power. You all individually hold the power within to create worlds.

At some time, if not daily, you will be advised to just lay quietly in your beds. Turn down your thoughts and you can feel your power. The energy flowing through you is undeniable and full of Light. We all want you to take your eternal power back into your own hands, and with your divine guidance you will never choose anything other than Love as you wield this magnificent sword of Light for your civilization.

If you can break free and continue bringing the energy of your planet upward for Ascension, it will be a magnificent new universal existence for all. If there is a delay and your energy remains in the third dimension, there will not be any doomsday as some would suggest. Your doomsday is living in your current three-dimensional reality, and your civilization will move forward, albeit on a longer road to Ascension. You will experience more of your three-dimensional projections of your reality in different scenarios. The rewards, though, will go to and not be denied to those who have chosen under this dense veil to connect. Their progress in self-awareness and growth will be recognized, and their external path will be lightened with not having to learn to choose Love or fear again, as it is embodied so deeply in their soul.

you will be judged

you are all loved deeply and equally

Not one of you will be judged. You are all loved deeply and equally by all. It may just be that some of you may need to stay in “school” longer than others.

The grandest message to you all is that when the few gain control of their power and it is yielded to the Light, they will create a vacuum and magically pull along so many of their fellow men that the probability of all of your civilization Ascending is almost assuredly guaranteed. This is what we all wish for you all now. A beautiful Ascension for all your planet, that is full of grace and Love and knowing.

In this most beautiful of scenarios there is seen the chaos and incoherence of many of your fear-based institutions crumbling, but as you hold the Light, you will create, as you have done so many times in the past, new and more successful ways to enjoy your divine existence on Earth.

There will be no lack. The abundance for all is almost indescribable, and the act of living in Love with your fellow man is truly divine. Freedom. Complete freedom and compassion for you to exercise your Free Will and create with your masterful powers. Your time will be yours. Your creations will manifest. You will thrive in your health. You will know who you are and the oneness of us all.

I want to give you one simple rule to follow all of your thoughts and actions as your institutions begin to fail: Choose Love over fear.

Many of you, as you connect to your higher selves, will begin to move away from your churches and their teachings. It may start with not going, as required, every Sunday. Perhaps you will choose to start spending a Sunday adoring your family in a park and delighting in some community activity that brings you together with your neighbors in doing something that is a creative joy for you. Perhaps you will share a conversation about another way to live in Love in your community and contributing your effort or monies directly to those that you feel moved to help, versus your churches’ coffers, whereby you are at arm’s length, if not completely usurped in deciding how your monies and efforts are spent.

If you want to feed the hungry, then you should feed the hungry directly. Besides feeding others, it will feed your soul. If you have a skill that brings you creative joy, then share that skill. If you look within and come upon any situation whereby contributing anything will bring you joy, even from holding a door open or allowing a car to move easily in front of you in traffic, you will be absolutely on your way to freeing yourself and learning to love, choosing Love over fear.

When your Church teachings begin to resonate differently inside you, you will know the truth. When you hear an untruth now, such as you are a sinner, you will know within that is not true. When you are told to contribute your money, you will know you have choices. When you are told that you need to fear an existence in hell for not following their teachings, you will come to know the absolute absurdity of this concept, and you will cognize the fear behind it as an effort to control you.

When there is any teaching that a man is more entitled than a woman to hold any position of power, you will feel the fear, not Love, in these doctrines. These are some of the most hideous of all, as the female energy of your planet, born of divine energy, is based. You will know there is Love in equality of men and women, and any doctrine that does not teach this is based on fear.

If your Church should have you worship me on the cross as having died for your sins, you must understand the absolute untruth in this. Oh yes, I was feared by the existing churches and governments at the time. This part of the history you read is true. And now you can understand their choices of fearing me and the tribunals and crucifixion that followed. All based on fear, not Love. Big fears, and rightly so, as I brought Big Love to the planet. My Love was so feared by those in power that they knowingly manipulated my words within their teachings to create the bibles and books and doctrines and sermons to promote fear and keep you under their control.

I choose Love even when faced with the largest fears of those around me. At my end, my unwavering choice was of light and Love, and with it my effect to create that vacuum behind it of Love within my fellow man with my teachings was the truth. Nothing else.

As I have watched for almost two thousand years the misuse of my teachings of Love, you must understand that, as my soul wants so much for you to understand the truth, I am determined to bring forth my teachings again. Many are ready now to hear these words. Many have been already moved to question many of the Churches' fear-based teachings without knowing why. Now you will know why in the simplest of terms. When any powerful authority shall teach you to be fearful, you must question it, and, as your soul knows, Love is the better choice for all.

Although I want you all to believe and know your eternal nature, I also want for you to know and understand the very temporary nature of your existence on this planet. It is only your home for a short while in your physical incarnation, and your efforts to use it with wisdom and grace and joy will move the planet forward with its Ascension.

All sentient beings know at their soul level that you are here now because you wanted to help the Earth ascend. You wanted to swim with all in this beautiful river of energy that is being created and drawn forth from you all. To bathe in the light you helped generate and then to take the ride of a lifetime with a complete knowing of what you are doing. You did not come to be a pawn of another and swirl endlessly in a vortex they created and drew you into with fear. You came to create your own vortex and then to align with other vortexes and swirl in the river of Light, a Light that is being watched across the Universe.

As of this day, let no man ever believe again that he is any less powerful than me as he walks the Earth. We are all equal, and we are all One. As you continue to develop your new belief system that embodies your magnificence, you will transform yourself and the world around you. I want you to feel the pride and joy and Love in this transformation out of the mental prison you have been living in. Feel the freedom your soul longs for and move toward it in full knowledge that you will be helping yourself, your fellow men, and the planet.

As we continue on our path together through my words herein, we will triumph. The butterfly you are is freeing itself from its cocoon and will fly farther than it knows. You want this journey, so do not shy away from it. As you take flight and you understand that many around you are as well, you will lift each other with your energetic fields.

The lie is over— love is here

Hold the Light of Love, which is becoming the dominant vibrational energy on the planet. As the lies that have created all the fear-based programming surface now, your best efforts will be to acknowledge them, but give them none of your energetic light, which will be your best course of action in moving forward to new ways of living in Peace on your planet.

The lies to be uncovered in the Awakening of the planet will be seen to have infiltrated every part of society. The largest will surface in your governments, churches, schools, and healthcare systems. Transportation systems, utilities, and your media and news have also been based on and controlled by a few to perpetrate the lies of your existence.

This is the time to be quiet with yourself as all is revealed. If you become confused you must first relax and trust that this evolution of your civilization will hold the highest good for all. As the chaos that will surface when any one institution falls away, do your best to stay quiet and observe the new choices you may now make as the free soul you are. The freedoms you can feel will overcome any fears of the new potentials with your quiet introspection.

You are here now to rebuild, redefine, and resurrect all. The Earth is beginning again, as it has for eons, and with our participation, the rebirth of systems and institutions to help you all live in peace, joy, and abundance will rise. With the energetic acceleration of the planet all will have the capability to be put in place very quickly. Coupled with the new technologies being brought forth, your ability to design, collaborate with cooperation, and manifest, the new world order is guaranteed. You must trust all that will manifest will be more directed by Love and service to others, or it will not contain enough energy to sustain itself. As you hold the Light of your Love and it flows naturally with the Love of your fellow man, you will watch as miracles are manifested.

You will wonder at times why it took so long for the changes and upgrades to occur once you experience the ease of the transition. This will step you into your mastery with a new Love-based programming that will rewire your physical body for the future.

Even though there may be times in the not-so-distant future that will fill many men's minds with disbelief, these are times of an excited Awakening that are presenting themselves to you for the gift that they are. You have been, whether you can understand it or not, an active participant in the complete reality you are now immersed in. Embrace it as the Master you are. Delight in the miracles and the opportunities to reach outside of your comfort zones for the growth it will provide you on so many different levels.

Spend time thinking about how you would like to behave in new situations versus succumbing to your ego-driven and subconscious programming. You have a choice in all matters, and your divine self will always be there to help guide you. Ask for help with intention. It will always be given to you. Ask multiple times if you need to. We are all standing by, ready to be of service to you.

Service to others in these times will evolve beautifully and swiftly and with a gentle flow of your loving consciousness.

Integrate it as the opportunities show themselves to you and you guide yourself to them. It will be like learning a new sport or craft whereby you will desire to connect with it, think with enthusiasm as to ways to co-create and experience it, and then actively begin to engage with it. You will start with your divine intention, then it will flow. If you are presented with situations that do not resonate with your higher self, then let them be. Turn and look for others that will bring you joy. These actions will serve all in the Universe, as we want nothing more for you than for you to choose your own specific experiences of joy at all times.

Relax. Think. Choose. Be happy. If you are not happy, choose again and repeat. These are the rules of the Universe and go beyond any of the fear-based rules your society is operating under now. This is part of your Awakening. To know that your choices for happiness are never wrong. Never.

Even as I continue to channel these teachings of the Love of the Universe, I want all men to understand that today is the time for them to stand in their own power and to take back the full responsibility for their destiny. Although this may seem like a mountain to climb, it will result in a rising amount of peace and joy and abundance.

The effort is not great if done one step at a time. If you take a step with a feeling of being a victim, that is fine, but allow your mind to work through what your higher-self might guide you to, as it will always take responsibility for all with never a waiver of judgment for anything.

Breathe. Relax. Choose. Move on up the mountain. It is all your own reality that we want you to delight in. Cheer yourself on and be content with yourself more often. Bask in your ability to see all the miracles around you more often. Listen to the animals and beasts of your planet through your heart and hear the top of the mountain call to you. These are easy, loving actions from your thoughts that can carry you through your day in peace.

As you relax into this peace in your mind, you will soon be able to clearly discern any unloving and fear-based situations you bring forth to you. Do not over-analyze how they have been brought to you, and do not attach yourself to them. Notice them for what they are and let them go and take your next step.

The lies of your civilization's true conduct will be revealed in growing numbers in conjunction with the Awakening of the masses. The collective consciousness of the planet has been responsible for all to date, but now, with your new awareness to discern from your higher self and not just the existing fear-based programming of your subconscious, you will step in and knowingly begin shifting the energy of the planet to a new and beautiful level, with just one small thought at a time. One Loving, thoughtful choice will change you and the world around you.

As all men will soon understand more about their existence, there will be a need for new ways to cooperate and collaborate. The old "business as usual" paradigm will be replaced with a more linear call to action whereby men may speak and contribute to the collectives that will evolve as equals. The respect of your fellow man will be an indication of your growing awareness of who you are. It is not necessary that you all agree on all issues. That will never exist, as the whole plan of you coming into this incarnation was to see both what you desire and what you do not. That is the duality that you came to play in as the Master you are.

When you see, hear, or, better yet, feel in your heart something you would like to change or improve, then focus on the improvement and let the beautiful action that brought you the opportunity to expand fade from your focus. Treat all men and situations with respect, and then place your ability to choose what feels right for you at an even higher level of respect.

When you lovingly respect yourself and you are acting from your heart and its connection to your divine self, then you will be living in the grace of the Universe with Love.

Keep moving forward. Keep discerning. Keep choosing. Be aware and cognizant of your Awakening. As it grows within you, it is my promise that your existence will unfold into the Peace on Earth you came here to create.

The Golden Rule— laugh, love & be joyful

There was a time when only the meek of the planet were living by the Golden Rule: Treat others as you shall want to be treated. The more powerful in the society based on competition-required domination and control over others, whilst not wanting that for themselves, so the separation of your civilization into classes began. It is a story that follows history in its degradation.

With the new Awakenings and the rise to your Ascension, the Golden Rule will once again thrive in your communities as men wake up to the knowing that you are all created as equals, that you are all Masters, and that service to others through loving choices will, in fact, lead all to the joyful and abundant lives they were meant to live in.

Small practices each day of the Golden Rule will in fact be the easiest lesson for all to work with as they change from fear-based programming, as it will be the most intuitive. With that cognition of listening to your heart in applying the Golden Rule you will in fact be reprogramming your subconscious to trust both the divine guidance that will be speaking to you with your acts of service, as well as feeling that your intuition does exist and should be used for guidance.

As we speak today of the many ways a man shall contribute to his civilization, the most important acts towards his Awakening beyond connecting with his divine consciousness is service to others. All of the Laws of the Universe meld with such a powerful force of congruity when serving others that the energetic flow of Love rises to meet with its divinity. This is the basis of the new living of man in a fifth dimensional world. It is ironic that the opportunities to serve others are greatly reduced in a fifth-dimensional existence, as all men understand their power and produce their own abundance, but they are there to work with in the beautiful expansion of the Universe.

Embrace your opportunities now, as they are all around you. Serve with a full knowing of your actions. Serve with a smile. Serve with dignity. Serve your fellow Masters now as you will smile about it later as the veils are lifted. Let others serve you as well. Your service to each other is brought together by the Law of Attraction, and your allowing of a service to you from another is fully reciprocated at all times.

You are the only person who knows and understands the beauty of your divine soul from within. No one else can walk in your footsteps or direct your Free Will. You are unique and you are so specifically designed by your essence to create miracles around you each day. You are the Master you have lived for eons with throughout the Universe in Peace, and at your core you completely understand the mission at hand to once again bring back to the planet Peace on Earth through the Golden Rule.

As you develop your discernment between Love and fear you will acknowledge that anything other than living in Love and Peace with your fellow man will not do. It will not feed your soul. You will be presented so many beautiful paths to practice your Mastery, and my guidance to you is to embrace each one, choose Love fearlessly, and smile, remembering that all is being reflected back to you. The Golden Rule is your compass, and the Law of Attraction is your present moment revealed to you.

As the Master you are, we so want you to feel your passions as deeply as you can, to create from a place of joy and excitement, and relax in between into the glory of your planet as it feeds you in the process. The pinnacle will be as you do this in Peace with your brother man. It is at your fingertips. You are so close. Do not let anyone who communicates fear to you in the process of this Ascension take any of your energy, as there will be great efforts by the few to keep your status quo or work to promote the need for more fear-based actions to sustain your existence. This is a falsehood.

We know many of you are hard-wired since birth with the fear-based survival choices you are expected to live with. We understand. This will be a process of growth and a calming of the ego and an Awakening of your true connection to your divine self. Play the game with your Mastery. Your heart knows every move that is Love. Ask if you want guidance in any situation. It will always be your choice, but our gentle voices will help ease you into new paradigms of living in Peace.

The earth as your sanctuary

Each and every day in the new world order of increased energies there will be miraculous unveilings of new technologies to help support and sustain mankind on the planet. Many will be new and gifted from other civilizations in your galaxy, and many that have existed on your planet for many years will be revealed. These technologies will generate a vast amount of freedoms in their implementations and will change the economies of the world.

The dependence on fossil fuels will cease very quickly. The implementation of clean and more efficient energies will replace oil and gas in their entirety. The transitions will be seamless and swift. The magnitude of the implementations will depend on the existing systems, but all will migrate very quickly to 100% clean sources. You will begin to breathe cleaner air, drink purer water, and see fabulous new colors on your horizons very soon.

Technologies to clear your oceans of pollution and waste will immediately be set into service, and the aquatic life that needs the oceans and rivers for sustenance will thrive once again. The true magic of water on your planet will be revealed for all the qualities that it holds in terms of holding and recirculating energies on the planet.

Communication systems will be upgrading with very advanced crystalline-based technologies that are currently used across the galaxy. The flow of information for communication will also be upgraded seamlessly for the benefit of all. As you learn more fully how to Master your intuition, there will be less need of words for communication. You will “know” as the Master you are what is happening around you more, and with this comes more responsibility.

All these beautiful new technologies for you will create many new opportunities for creation and expansion of your personal divine consciousness as well as the Universe. They are powerful, as are you, and when used with Love and service to others, they will radiate and enable wide-spread joy and abundance for man.

They have been held now for many years in secret government programs across the globe by the few who have profited from the older technologies and fuels for their benefit, even though your Earth has paid a very steep price in its ability to thrive and create the beautiful existence you were meant to live in. When all is revealed, my guidance to you is to look forward, not back, and learn to live in even more gratitude each day in the abundance of your planet.

As each new day brings a sunrise, so it brings new opportunities for all men to cultivate a new relationship with the planet. One that is free from pesticides and that works toward a new restoration and balance of resources and cooperatively plans for the distribution of foods and water so that all men shall live in abundance.

It will only take the intention and Free-Will decisions of a few to set all of this restoration in process. It will then create a wave of the most beautiful energy of service to others that will wash back on the givers, thereby creating even more abundance for all.

As all men then become bathed in abundance, the energy they may begin to focus on, in being the Master creators they are, will rise. This is the divine plan for the planet: to serve as a Master breeding ground for new ideas that are based in Love and can be enjoyed by all throughout the Universe.

Let no man tell you that this is not possible or that the destruction at the surface of the planet is too far gone for healing. The magic of the Universe, coupled with the intent of the Masters upon it now will create miracles of change around the globe very quickly. To be here now and to participate in this rejuvenation is why many of you have chosen to reincarnate now. Yes, the Awakening of the civilization and the Ascension is the main draw for you, but literally being able to touch and feel and help personally re-energize the planet and know you were a willing participant will be a glorious step forward in your eternal evolution.

Think globally with your intentions and the Universe will respond with loving ways to heal all. Act locally on a daily basis, no matter how insignificant you might feel, because it will make a difference. Small acts are capable of creating big miracles.

Ground yourself daily by physically touching the majestic Earth you walk on. Walk barefoot on the grass or any earthen path. Breathe the outside air in deeply with gratitude each day. Watch the sunrise and set with a respect for its mastery in providing you the beautiful sunlight energy, perfectly balanced, every day. And do look up at the stars whenever you can and smile at the wonder and beauty of your galaxy.

You live in a magical reality on Earth, as do all the species. You choose to be where you are at now, whether it be an island, desert, mountain, or valley. Love it all and the Law of Attraction will then allow it to Love you back more fully, as it is alive. Your Earth is a magnificent being of energy that is guided by Gaia, who has allowed you to come for a short visit. Waste not a day in appreciating your time here, and feel the beauty of it all as your divine consciousness feels it.

My guidance is to do this daily

Get outside
you can

All of the Awakenings of all the peoples of the world will create the most lush and wonderful environment for all to live in Peace together, as was always the divine plan. Our creator, Our Source, in conjunction with Gaia, holds this beautiful energy of the pristine planet without a waiver in any thought about its ability to restore it to full health. They, as we all on this side of the veil, can see the full restoration in all its magnificence.

It is my hope and desire that each and every man on Earth can wiggle their toes in the sand or grass or ocean and absorb all they can of the magical energy this wonderful planet has to share. Although you may feel at times the separation from your divine self more than others, the best remedy to bring you back to your Mastery is connecting with your planet, which will facilitate your own divine connection. My guidance is to do this daily. Get outside whenever you can. As this beautiful Earth energy flows into you more and more, so will your energy flow naturally more consistently and with more Love for all.

Your neighbor as your brother

Your fellow man is your brother. All women are sisters, and every man, woman, and child that has ever existed on this planet are One. They all, along with me, exist together eternally on this side of the veil and are loving each incarnated soul on the planet with the same loving gentleness as a mother to her newborn babe. It is with a beautiful grace and the utmost respect that we will all live together in Love. That is the foundation of our Universe.

As you Awaken and relax into your Mastery you will naturally begin looking for the Mastery in your fellow man, and the first place to witness that is in their eyes. Even if you see fear in a man's action, look at his eyes and you will see the loving Master behind the veil of fear-based programming that is responsible for any choices that do not resonate with Love.

One man's choice cannot be imposed upon another without a cooperation, and that is guaranteed through the Universal Law of Attraction. Every encounter exemplifies the energy of two souls who have attracted each other at that point in space and time. There are no victims and there is no judgment. All men are responsible for everything in their reality at all times.

With this understanding, your belief systems will begin to shift in the direction of your innate power to create and manifest the existence you choose from your Free Will. As you blame another for an act, you give away your power. The purpose of these teachings has been for you to cognize and understand your power and then to direct it as you choose with your Free Will. All men, women, and children are the same, wield the same power, and are all One.

An act of fear against any man will only be reflected back to you, and as you watch and understand the rules of this “game” you will begin to play it better. An act of Love flows back to you swiftly in ways that you will learn to know and appreciate. The beautiful chemicals released in your acts of Love in your three-dimensional bodies are beneficial to you in so many ways, from anti-aging to increased vitality. In all fairness it is given, and its purpose is a gift to all humanity, for as one man thrives, his energetic field of vitality is passed to all those around him.

Many will be the times that this energetic exchange will take place and it will become one of a gentle and expected grace that will be the natural state of existence among men. This is the foundation for the Peace on Earth you all shall dwell in as one man’s inner strength and peace is reflected out to his fellow man and then back again onto himself. This is how man lives in an Awakened state. Mindful. Strong. Confident. At Peace. Centered. Loving. This is the state of a man who has merged with his divine consciousness and lives his life from his heart, not his ego.

My advice to all men now again is to be still and find your beautiful connections. Feel your way into this state of grace and divinity, if only for a few moments each day, and remember in detail the feelings you are experiencing, as this is your natural state and the memories will come back.

As the truths of the memories permeate your mind, they will be undeniable. For many they may be confusing, but you will know them as truths about yourself, and with practice all will become natural.

You may envision your divine self reaching down a hand to you and gently pulling you out of a foggy scene into a clear space of knowing. You have trained yourself to operate your life in this fog, and that is natural for many, but as you reach above the fog and begin seeing more clearly, you will open up to this new and more beautiful way to live. As you then cognize and adjust small habits to adapt to your new clarity, your fellow man will as well, and your ability to see more clearly is the Light your planet most needs now.

Your body as your temple

Your physical vessel is a work of art. The trillions of cells that work together in the most magnificent orchestration of chemistry and physics is truly a miracle. Although it is your temporary home, it should be honored for its life-giving efforts to embody your divine energy. It is a symbiotic relationship. Your divine higher self needs the body and the body needs the energy of your divinity.

Your DNA is your Akash and the blueprint of your divinity. It is 100% under your control as the Master you are. It will respond to your divine energy that is pulsating within your body. It is designed to very specifically know and respond to your divine signature of energy. You control the entire function of the DNA and, hence, the viability of your bodily processes.

This is not what you have been taught and programmed with. You have been led by many to believe you are a “victim” of your ancestral genetics. This is not true. You have been told that the current medical system is your sole source of healing for any critical unhealthy conditions. This is not true. You have been conditioned to believe that the body you were born into is controlling its physical appearance and health. This is not true. The truth is you are the divine energy transmitting to each and every cell — none excepted — the life force you choose. The body is only responding to your energy, and since it is made almost entirely of energy, any piece of it can be changed instantaneously.

I want to provide you a brief history of the lies that you have been programmed with. I will start with myself. I understood the essence of my Mastery when I walked the Earth. I knew that I controlled my physical being with my mind, even though I was much less knowledgeable about the actual chemistry and physics of what is evolving in each cell of the body. I did know that I could not only control my own physical body but that I could help others learn to control theirs. That was a large part of my teaching in terms of a shock value. As I was able to help others raise their energies and heal themselves, it looked as if I was performing miracles. Yes, they were miracles, but nothing that is not beyond the skillset of every person on Earth.

I enjoyed creating healings as I received the full attention of those around me who then listened with more of an open mind to the possibilities of all the other miracles I spoke of. Those other miracles are what I am speaking to you now about throughout this book.

What I did with my healings was no different than many ancient civilizations that had understood who they were and their Mastery. As the churches evolved, it was not in their best interest to have you understand this power. They had to remain the conduit to it.

It is in the knowing of your true self you will find all the answers you will ever need to thrive in your existence now. You are all you need. You are whole and you are one with all. You are very much an individual, with a very specific personality at all times and for eternity. You are growing and expanding in your capacity to Love, and you are a Master.

You are a Master of your body in this divine plan with complete Free Will over the energy you choose to have flow

knowing of your true self
you will find all the answers you will ever need to thrive in your

into it. Your programming is very, very different from my words here, but it is the truth of the Universe. On this side of the veil we do not need a physical body, and we only dwell in complete health and vitality, without exception.

Like driving a car, you are driving your body. It cannot drive itself. It needs you and will function based on your input to it. If you know the road you are going down, it becomes easier to handle the vehicle. Yes? If you know how the vehicle works, it becomes easier to maintain. Yes? If you give the vehicle good fuel and maintenance it drives better. Yes? If you as a driver follow on your driving with intention you will direct the vehicle to where you want to go. Yes? These are all truths that are easier for you to comprehend, and they all apply to your physical body being directed by your divine consciousness, with no difference.

Your divine energy drives the vehicle. The vehicle is your body. Your physical health is the condition of the vehicle. The vehicle's fuel is how you nourish your body, and most important is the road you choose to travel and the paths you choose when given an opportunity at a fork in the road.

The more you understand the map and areas you may travel, the more comfortable your journey will be. You planned for this "road trip" on Earth in this incarnation, with a full expectation that you would be presented with many decisions to make in your travels, but the trip was meant to be joyful and you were prepared and felt safe and assured that at the end you would arrive home, safe and sound. The wear and tear on your vehicle you knew would be under your control and that you had the freedom to choose what effort (energy) you decided to spend on the maintenance and care of the vehicle.

Your beautiful physical body is your vehicle. You have become one with it for now, but you are so much more than it and it is under your control. Every cell is listening and responding to your energy for guidance at all times. If you are experiencing a health issue with your body, and I know many of you are in a very wide spectrum of issues, it is because your energy has been programmed in some area to a belief that does not resonate with the divine path you have chosen.

This is a big and difficult concept for many to believe: that they are responsible for their health. It is much easier to continue under the programming you have received to blame your father's DNA or the nature of your body from birth or the cold you caught from the neighbor who sneezed near you, but this is not the path of reasoning for the Master you are. You are 100% responsible, and the road to an improved health condition needs your divine energy to help get it back on the path that you choose.

Your beautiful mind

In the days of old there was a term used by many civilizations: knowing thyself. There were many beautiful rituals, ceremonies, and stories that served to help man from his childhood understand his divinity. All men were encouraged to seek and explore their connections with their divine self with the complete knowing by their local communities that this connection served the masses and contributed to the livelihood, abundance, and longevity of the local peoples.

Today, this gifting of the knowledge has been overshadowed on so many fronts. The local communities in so many parts of the world look to their governments, schools, and churches on so many levels for guidance and sustenance and protection of their communities instead of encouraging the exploration of the mind's divine connections.

The time is now to break free and connect. To re-establish the sacredness of your divine consciousness as your personal guidance system that will never waiver in directing you to the highest and best service to yourself and to others. As you thrive with the increased use of your personal guidance, so will all of those around you.

The energetic effect to the planet as these connections by more and more people evolve and develop is not linear. It is exponential and, for most, incomprehensible, as the energy you are bringing forth is of a Universal nature. You are all Masters of the Universe, and your connections allow for the channels of Universal Love to flow through like a waterfall of energy onto the planet that then spreads and comingles with the other beautiful sources of men who are connected around you.

Those who have not fully connected cannot help but to be lifted in the full current of energy you are able to bring to the planet. One man's connection alone is immense in its reach and cannot be underestimated. A tribe of men, women, and children connected to their divine consciousness is the model of living in Peace on Earth in complete abundance. It is glorious for all to exist in this Heaven on Earth for their incarnations here, and is, without exception, how all men will exist on Earth after Ascension.

In the ease of using your divine guidance system you will at all times know the power of the Love it is providing you. Accept this Love with the grace and dignity from which it is sent. It is your essence, and it is with you eternally. With this knowing you will easily step into leading your life from your heart and choosing the path of Love.

Play with your senses and know that in whichever way you choose to connect to your guidance system, as there are many, it will be your personal ritual. Music, a cup of tea, a walk in the woods, sitting on grass outside or your favorite chair inside — it does not matter. The only guidance is for you to be comfortable and to knowingly open up to it. You will find your way, and as it becomes more real and your belief system trusts in its existence and its grace, you will more easily connect more and more until your thoughts are merged and your channel is so clear that you will know you are one with yourself.

Do not let the fear of another deter you as you explore yourself from the inside. It is a divine experience and one that you knowingly came to play with as you entered the separation the current veil of your existence created for you.

When you look into and meet the eyes of a fellow Master who has learned and developed their connections to their divine consciousness, you will know it. Start with small children and babies, and you will understand with these young ones that they have not been fully programmed away from their connections. They are consciously still connected yet may not speak it, and you will see it in their eyes.

Other, older Masters may well be disconnected with their body and current consciousness that is here on Earth, but their eyes, which are the lenses you can see, are. Look deeply and their divinity will show itself to you no matter what state of Love or fear they are experiencing. No one is ever disconnected, even for a moment. Ever. Can this beautiful connection be buried under fear-based programming? Yes. Can it be uncovered? Yes, but only by yourself with your Free Will. The energetic fire of this connection will live on eternally, and your efforts to know of it and become one with it are the most gracious gifts you can provide to your civilization. It is your Awakening.

Your Resurrection— Divinity—Ascension

Resurrection is a funny word. Most souls cannot comprehend the fact that all men on planet Earth are resurrected at their passing from your current three-dimensional existence. Resurrection is your rebirth. You're coming home. You all have many, many choices once you are resurrected, and they are all beautiful. All are filled with Love and grace, and you have the entire Universe at your soul level to help guide you with what decisions you may make to move your spiritual path forward.

The concept of resurrection is for you all. It was not limited to myself. My light was more connected and vibrating at a higher frequency when I was in our/your three-dimensional world. You, every one of you, will be resurrected back to Earth. That is the plan you have put forth for yourselves. It is a time of greatness for you all. You are being cheered for on the other side right now. Your bravery and commitment to mankind and the planet is the leading edge of growth in our Universe. Yes, the call went out to the Universe and you answered. You all answered. The only indecency is the veil of lies you have been led to believe about your existence.

You must all understand that your, as you would say, “roots,” your heritage, is one of magnificence. Your divinity is unparalleled. You owe no one anything, except that you owe every man on Earth your greatest respect. I want to guide you to the understanding, the deep, deep understanding, that every man on Earth is your brother. Again, not an easy concept or belief with your current state of turmoil, but critical for you and the Earth’s evolution.

The time that has passed since my crucifixion has been merely a blink in the time of the Universe, yet so much bad will from the powers of the Church leaders to monopolize and control and profit from my words shows the culmination of the darkness it holds. The light is coming, and it is coming fast through the lifting of the veil and the natural flood of Love from the Universe.

Once the tides of omnipotent potentials of the masses are revealed and believed, the changes to your planet will be so vast they will be almost incomprehensible. We can see the glory and the beauty of what is to come, and it is good for all. Even your Church leaders will bow to its grace, the grace of all of your souls in their natural state. As we all become one again in our actions and deeds, the daily existence of each and every human will be propelled forward to a new state of grace. This grace is your divine birthright. The grace of a newborn, its beauty, is a stunning reference that most can relate to. Picture your life, your entire life, as interacting with your neighbors, enemies, family, coworkers, all as babes with their model of grace. That is how we exist on this side of the veil. We exist in pure Love, and that is what we want for you. Once you truly believe in yourselves and your innate grace, then the Love between all men on Earth will flow with the natural abundance it was meant to.

As a practice, each day, the first thing you must do is Love yourself. With no exception, you are all Love and never need to apologize for anything. You must forgive and Love yourselves each day. As you forgive yourselves, you forgive others, and so it goes. These are not new words. They have been distorted as they have been “preached” to many in the Christian faith with the intent of control. It has been a spectacular game of mind control over many of you. A game of deception. As you read my words here, I encourage any of you who have put your faith in the Church beliefs about yourself to take a good look at the discrepancies of what I am telling you now, and what the Church has conditioned you to believe.

Take a piece of paper and write down ten of your Church’s beliefs that would have you be anything different from the divine Love and grace of your soul that I am describing. I will help you start the list with ten of the most common wrong beliefs that many of the churches want you to believe. Ready?

- 1 That you must forgive your sins.
- 2 That praying for forgiveness of your sins will atone for them.
- 3 That you need a “mouthpiece” in terms of a pastor, priest or rabbi to speak to heaven.
- 4 That a sacrifice or action of giving to another that is a painful or unpleasant act is the way to heaven.
- 5 That money paid to the church will keep the channels open and help you and your fellow man get to heaven.
- 6 That praying to myself, Jesus, or an Angel will answer your prayers.
- 7 That there is inequality between men and women. (This is a big one brother.)
- 8 That one religion is more “right” than another and worthy of projecting its “rightness” to others.
- 9 That the larger the congregation, the more right it is.
- 10 That I am anything other than your equal.

I am going to step through each of the top ten beliefs, as they are so very common to so many of the derivations of different faiths. It does not matter if you are a Baptist or a Jew or a Muslim. This list could go on for 100 beliefs of each faith, but these ten are to get you started in creating your new belief system for yourselves, which puts you squarely and firmly in charge of your destinies.

For some, it has been easier to follow the Church to set their personal rules of life rather than take responsibility for themselves. As I said before, this is not necessarily a path of convenience, but it is a path of enlightenment. You all were born with Free Will for a reason — to show that you can choose light and know the difference. The decisions you all made as babies, with that divine grace, is what you have been taught away from, but it is still within you and you have the ability, should you choose, to come out of the fog of deceit and take back your beautiful loving lives.

I want to talk to you about the first false premise. The one that speaks to you of sin. There is no sin. You all live in a perfect balance of light and dark for you, and the Law of Attraction is always at work for you. If you feel that someone has “sinned” against you, then you must understand that you attracted the action of the sin. The sinner was a willing participant, but the two of you attracted the action from one another. One man’s sin may well be another man’s act of Love. There are no mistakes. This begs the need for you again to take full responsibility for all your actions. Keep your focus on light and you will draw and attract more light to you. Focus on darker circumstances through worry and fear and, yes, you will attract those into your existence.

The act of repenting a sin will only bring more focus to it and draw more of the idea back into your existence. The notion that the Church in their esteemed power could have any control over your focus is a false truth. You are responsible for you and for all of your actions, situations, thoughts, and surroundings. They are completely under your control of your own mind. Again, it is more difficult for many to assume responsibility for your mind’s focus. For literally thousands of years you have been told that handing over the sin as an act of repentance will cause it to be forgiven. This was all created by the powers of the Church to control your mind which then, by plan, led to the control of your freedom and ability to generate your own God-given right to abundance on this planet. Oh yes, we know that by no means should all of you be holding light in your focus at all times. There is a beautiful duality in your three-dimensional plane of existence. The message to you is that it is under your control at all times. The only control the Church has is that which you have given it. You are all beings of light, from the light, and of the light, and you will return to the light. You will return to the light no matter what your belief system will tell you to the contrary.

There is no sin

I also want to speak of the sacrifice for the sin that many of you feel is required for atonement. As many of you know, the monies you have so willingly tithed out to the Church puppet masters has been used in so many disproportionate acts of evil and darkness in the name of helping you repent your sins. From the halls of the Vatican and complete excesses of the Catholic Church, to the crimes against women in the Jewish faith, to the oppression of the Muslim teachings, all have been funded by your unknowing.

I stand alone in my conviction that these truths about the Church must be exposed and recognized for what they are and for what they have done. This is not a divine message that you are hearing from Jesus Christ. This is a Law of the Universe. There is no sin. I fully understand that for many of you this concept of a Universe without sin is too much to comprehend. You look across your neighborhoods and you have the ability to see sin everywhere and most of you feel the call to action to correct the sin. I am telling you now that the sin is in the eye of the beholder, and it is a false premise.

As I step you through the next lies, I want you to be very aware that aspects of each of them will be varied in different religions' doctrines, but they are there to be recognized with discernment for your growth.

Allowing any other man to speak to you with their knowing of God is tricky. That is what I am speaking of to you now, but, as I said, my direction is for you to do this directly, for your guidance, not myself. You will have a more difficult time learning to connect to your divine consciousness while sitting in a church or synagogue or mosque. Begin to shift your beliefs on your own at a place of comfort and neutrality. Then let the magic begin.

As far as monies paid to the churches, I would note that there is no end to what they would take from you. Your monies have been their sustenance, not your divine consciousness. Let this "requirement" for spirituality dwindle to the point of you recognizing that your gift to your fellow man is your connection and the energy you will bring to your community. Play with this and you will soon find that the abundance that will flow from your local community to care for itself as a collective will be immense.

The "rightness" or size of a religion is, simply put, an indication of the excesses that they acquired and abused from their congregations. You need only look at the small country church where the buildings are humble versus the Vatican to see the range. The absolute opposite is true with both these lies, and as I am guiding you, you will know that it truly is not your responsibility to convert or preach your beliefs to any other Master walking the planet. Take care of your connection and let your fellow man take care of his, as you will never know what is best for him, nor him for you.

I have already spoken to the fact that I am your brother. I am your equal, and I love you all. With that you may step up and cognize your Mastery in a fashion that will help you lead people forward to a new way of coming together in an enlightened civilization.

Guidance for the dissassembling of church buildings

Let's begin with the real objective of the book. It is meant to replace the Bible. It will become the basis of teachings for the churches that remain. They will all have their opportunity to channel and rewrite and create new stories for themselves. It will make them humble. It will change the leadership so that many more can share their words of Love and epiphanies in the New Age of Ascension. They will become gathering places of Love and community. Relaxed and loving temples. A true place to help others in need. The gift of energy healing will be shared and utilized. Once the healings begin being shared, and the old system of abuse from the pharmaceuticals, etc. is revealed for what it is, there will be a great influx of energies to move this new healing paradigm forward. Many in this lifetime will not believe it. That is okay. But generations to come will know and expect it. The new system will be there, understood and used for the highest good of all.

So, actual church buildings can stand. Many are beautiful as is. Some may want to change a few things not to forget history, but to encourage the brighter, more glorious world of Heaven on Earth. For those that have been involved in the big business of Church to date, they will be shown new paths of contributing to society. For those involved in the Church that will continue to hang on to the old selfish ways, they will struggle, as they are no match for the new light and energies of your planet Earth. The incoherence of this part of the shift will be significant for a few generations, but in the scope of your time here on Earth, it will be known as a “breath” and one of the grandest “Renaissances” of the human spirit in its complete history.

The family unit at home will become a true sanctuary for individuals. Family members will know each other as the Masters they are. They will remember each other’s respect for the Akash with its knowing of past lives for all. Dinner table conversations will be very much different, with a grand open view of your histories, sharing all that you have learned, openly, with love and acceptance. All of this will be done with your complete Free Will, as it was always planned. It is a culmination of the most beautiful part of your evolution as a species.

I want to now give you guidance on disassembling and renewing your churches. This will be broad in its direction, as there are so many facets of each religion that need revitalization, but it will serve as a start to begin the process.

The first step will be to envision a new local place of gathering where there is absolutely no one deity, god, or person worshipped. The gathering should completely focus on gratitude, and as that energy of gratitude radiates from all in attendance, the energetic field of the building and all those within will rise and allow for an easier connection with your individual divine conscious souls, which is the objective.

I am not asking that all the history be removed or destroyed, but I will emphatically ask that any artifacts of myself on the cross be removed, as there is no room for this act of history in your moving forward. I did not die for your sins, and I absolutely should not be worshipped for what conspired to bring me to that end.

I have light of consciousness that I want you to feel, if you feel you need a visual of me to work towards your own divine connections. It may well look like a light beaming in through a beautiful glass pane or window; it may be a lit candle; or it may be just a look into the eyes of your fellow man, as my light will be seen in his eyes, just as it will be when he looks back at yours. I am with you all at all times.

The written Bibles of your churches hold so many false truths. They are no longer needed and should not be relied on for any direction of your life path. Any reliance on the untruths of the Universe and the falsification of my teachings are to be treated as history. A history that did not serve mankind.

As you gather with your fellow man who understands the new mission of mankind and that it requires a quiet turning within, you will feel the power of your collective consciousness. You will learn how to direct it and, when Love is chosen, you will be amazed at the miracles that you will create.

As you progress, one of the most beautiful ones will be the healing of each other. This too will be a difficult path with all of the pharmaceutical sub-programing you have all been subjected to for so many years, but it will open up to the minds that allow it. Healing another with intention and a divine energy flow is a remarkable way to share and experience the Love you are made of. The intention to heal is all you need. This act alone, when done with an understanding of the Love being shared, will bring most souls to tears because it is such a direct connection to the divinity of you all. Affecting a healing, or not, makes no difference. The act of this loving service to another with an open heart will move you emotionally, as this is your true nature. To serve others with an open heart and with a Loving intention is a beautiful miracle that will feed your soul as it is reflected back. That is the Law, and it is magnificent when you knowingly have chosen Love and can feel its energetic effect in your heart.

Even when the time has come for me to appear for you, I want you to know from your heart that I am always available to your divine self and have been for eternity. We are all one through our divinity. You continue to be one with all those on the other side of the veil at all times.

It may be much easier for many of you to believe now and connect with loved ones that have passed through the veil. In your own way you have asked and then, with your intuition and a pure desire to connect with Love, you have felt and known that a loved one was communicating with you. This is a beautiful act and one that your soul responds to as it knows its truth.

Now when you ask with the same knowing and Love through your divine consciousness for me, I will appear for you. For many this will be overwhelming because of your false sub-programming that I was any different from your loved ones on this side of the veil. Your overwhelmed emotion will be of Love. That is what I will bring you — Love — and in your heart you will know that the divinity within you is the channel by which we will meet.

I want to move your belief system and open your eyes to the pure glory of your existence on this planet and move you to question any and all guidance that will ever take you down the path of fear. You will be changed, and I, as your teacher providing the simple guidance with my words within the book, will be humbled at your Awakening and that I was in any way a part of your Ascension of Light.

My role as your guide, should you choose to take the journey with me directly instead of through the false teachings of the Church, will be profound. I will gently nudge you along your path and be there as you ask for guidance. I am not to be worshipped. You are to worship your own divinity with as much Love as you can allow yourself to receive. Your ability to Love yourself is one and the same as sending Love back to me and the entire Universe, and we all humbly will bathe in it for eternity. As you begin to create a new way of living that allows for this divine Love connection to guide you, the Love will cascade to your fellow man, your beautiful planet, and, yes, then it will help move all to the Peace on Earth you came to create. I personally cannot wait!

Guidance for disassembling government

I am and was a man who believed in the equality of men and women. When I walked the Earth there had already been a deep seeding by the males who had placed themselves in positions of authority with a very contrived story of the lesser role of women in society. It was ubiquitous even in my time, and it remains today as one of the greatest untruths of mankind.

There is no place greater than in your governmental systems where this falsehood and discrimination against women has withstood the test of time and continues today. This one area of discrimination has had a massive impact on your planet and civilization.

There have been many women over the ages that have led with their divine powers, and most are legendary in their successful, loving, nurturing, and gentle leadership styles. From Isis, to Quan Yin, to even Mother Mary, the feminine ability to lead from a Loving heart is a much more effective way to live in joy with grace. Let us not forget Gaia, who is sharing her home with us and will continue to control this beautiful planet with her feminine wisdom for eternity.

So here you are now, in regimes across the globe that are dominated by the masculine and are as deceptive as the Church in designing and promoting fear-based programs to keep you under their control. You have been led to believe you are an equal participant in the creation of these regimes by design, but the fact is that almost all are 100% controlled by only a very few. Your politicians are puppets of their system and will never wield any power great enough for the changes that need to occur to let you live together in Peace.

There are events conspiring, though, that will allow for the massive changes needed in your government systems. They will be creating completely new paradigms for you to exist in, and they are so much more beautiful and effective than any of you can comprehend now. You have been so manipulated by so few with incredible fear-based programming, as with the churches, to ensure the longevity of these church and government systems that are benefitting so few, and keeping so many away from the peaceful, cooperative existence you came to live in, as that is your divine nature: Love.

Your governmental histories are there for you to read and have been as manipulated as my teachings were by the Church. The few who understood your power used it to create the governmental systems to provide them security through money and a legacy of control that also was designed with great intent to deceive with fear and, therefore, control your beautiful minds.

I am going to state some facts that many of you may not believe, but I tell you the truth that needs to be revealed. I will reiterate that no one is being judged by us on this side of the veil, but we are fully aware of what is happening with your Free Will, or, shall we say, lack of your freedoms that have evolved within your governments over thousands of years.

As I referenced earlier, creating a monetary system that took you away from your reliance on your own divine consciousness to provide you all you need was the start. You can fill in the history from then until now. If you have read and believe the history and theories presented as to how your government systems have evolved, you must now be aware that they are showing severe “cracks in the armor” as more and more of their constituents are unsupportive of their policies. Policies that do not serve them. And now, as you begin to use your simple choice of reviewing these policies as designed from a choice of Love or a choice of fear, you will, as with the Church’s teachings, begin to unveil the corruption that you have been a servant to.

My mission here now is not to detail the deception of the policies, but only to ask that you ask yourself, with divine guidance, for their truth.

The events that are conspiring now are ones that many of you have summoned through your asking for a better way. Your efforts to elect a different puppet leader will always be futile against your own personal power of asking with a divine connection based on Love for a new way. The Universe is answering that call now in ways that will seem unconnected, but they are deeply interwoven.

The major event that is coming soon is known by some as Full Disclosure. This will be your government’s acknowledgement that they have known about and been in contact with extra-terrestrials. They will declare that the keeping of this knowledge was for your protection, but, as will be revealed, it has been benefitting a great industrial complex that are the true leaders of your world civilization. This announcement is not one that any of these leaders wants, as it will mark the end of their era of control. And just as with the backlash of energy you will feel from your churches as they crumble, the backlash from your government will be great, as well. The fear-based programming that will be generated to have you keep the existing government in place will be enormous. We know, as it has been in place for a very long time, and the fear they will generate with Disclosure will continue to escalate.

The fact of the matter is that you are not alone in this Universe. The Universe is full of sentient beings, and the majority of them are much more highly evolved in terms of technologies. These inter-galactic technologies that have been brought to Earth over the eons of your different civilizations are beneficial to all. They have always been given in Love and are the key to your future survival on the planet. Period.

These powerful technologies have been hidden from you by the few in power, using your governments as a cloak. Just as the Church did not want you to know of or use your divine consciousness, the government leaders did not want you to know of or use these beautiful technologies that are so needed for your civilization.

The inter-galactics that will be presented to you by your government will be positioned as neutral now, whereas heretofore there has been deep programming that they were to be feared. Most of you cannot deny that if you came face to face with an extra-terrestrial a feeling of terror may envelop you. You must know that you have been programmed for this event to act in fear.

When the time comes for the changes to unfold in your government systems, many of you will be ready and freely embrace a new beginning to the restructuring of your communities. With this new beginning will come the freedoms you were born to live under and the responsibility that comes with it.

Many of you will not be ready and may hold on to the old systems for the false securities that you feel they provide you. Again, there is no judgment. It is your personal path, and my guidance to you is simple: when you come to the many paths that may be presented to you in the evolution of these systems of your civilization, look for only two options, Love versus fear, and then choose Love, knowing the strength of that decision.

There will be many decisions and paths placed in front of all of you soon. It may well seem overwhelming at times, but you have and know how to connect to your own personal guidance system which you can trust completely.

Your fellow men will put forward new paths, and it is your responsibility to discern, listen, and decide if they are right

not alone in this

for you. It will seem now that you will have so many options and choices once the rules you have been forced to live under have fallen away, but you will very quickly align with all your newly found freedoms.

As remnants of these past systems will promote fear-based campaigns to keep them in positions of control over you, you will, as with a ballot to vote, have a choice. The path you take is your own now, as it was always intended.

These new paths of freedoms for you will spontaneously bring forth your own creative ideas for new paths. It will be a beautiful new map leading your civilization into the future: the path to Ascension. You can view yourself as an explorer when you go within. Look for guidance and then set off with your best intuition on the path that you create.

Examples of these new paths will include trade and commerce without a monetary system and what values and items can be repackaged on a more local scale to serve those around your communities. The path for clean water is one, as well as energy and food. There will be new paths for holistic healing and recreation. There will be new paths to explore new technologies that are being lovingly gifted to you by the inter-galactics. This one path will merge into many others and complete the new highways of abundance that will be a part of your new existence once the governmental systems fall.

There will be beautiful new paths to restore your beautiful planet under the thankful guidance from Gaia. The path to clean air with new crystalline energy sources will develop very quickly around the globe, as the need for fossil fuels will become non-existent.

The path of restoring your oceans and natural water systems will be beautiful and gentle. The species of your planet will flourish once again, as the new inter-galactic technologies will allow for their almost immediate cleansing and restoration. There will be new paths to connect with the inter-galactics as you become knowingly integrated into your community in your galaxy. With an open mind, the opportunities for you to contribute to the expansion of the Universe in ways you will recognize and appreciate will be magnificent.

You will remember as you move along these new paths and gain your understanding of all the new potentials of your civilization. You will know the Master that you are.

Do not look back and do not attempt to go back on your chosen path. Keep moving forward, keep choosing and keep creating. This is what you incarnated for, to create in joy, choose, create, look for more joy and miracles, come up to a new path, see both forks in the road, choose the one that resonates with Love, and then choose again. And, if you should pick a path leading to fear, look for the next fork in the road where you have the freedom, without judgement, to choose again and again.

As an added note and reminder, you are all eternal, and the paths and choices laid before you will never end. They will extend continuously throughout all your incarnations, as they always have and as they always will. These paths will lead you across the Universe, and, as you continue to progress, the overriding Loving Laws of the Universe will be beacons to aid you at all times.

Big changes. Big decisions. Big times of growth all await you with the events of Full Disclosure. It has been a long time in the coming of these beautiful changes for your civilization. Do not shy away in fear as the opportunities are presented to you, but rather stand tall in Love and hold your energy steady. You are birthing a new way of living in your existence, and just as you may marvel in wonder at a newborn babe, you should view all the changes for new opportunities that will be presented to you with wonder and an enlightened mind that knows choosing Love as your emotion will always keep your mind at peace.

Keeping your mind at ease with your soulful knowledge of your innate power will help you through any turbulent times you may face, for the turbulence is only in your mind, which has chosen fear. Reflect and work to choose Love and the turbulence will subside.

These are the times you came for, and it is a miracle and honor to be on Earth, incarnated at this time. You have so many, many wonderful guides and angels and members of your soul family holding the light for you. It is beautiful, and we are all benefitting from the evolution of your planet.

Now, as a more practical matter, you need to be aware of not recreating or reestablishing institutions because of the desire for these institutions to survive. Remember that they have not served mankind, and your desire for a new way of living with new freedoms for all will show itself to you with your loving intention and focus on them.

You do not need to understand how to make the new ways happen. You only need to have the intention through your Free Will that will allow all of us on our side of the veil to “get to work” crafting and architecting a myriad of new possibilities for you all to choose from. Trust us. We can create miracles for you. That is our “job” if you allow us.

We have the potential, with only your intention and Free Will, to create a “buffet” of choices for you. Not all may pick the same selections from the buffet, and just as you would not judge another for their food selections as the impact to yourself would be so negligible, your choice of what you choose to put on your plate will be your decision and you will know it is right for you and what you want at this time. No one will be judged for their choices, as the abundance that will flow from all the choices will be tangible and become a very real and new way for you all to live together.

There will be many men who will step up as local community leaders with new ideas and plans of how to best exist for survival. Some of these ideas may resonate with you, and some not. That is your decision to make with your Free Will. After discernment you may feel that a compromise in some of your thinking for the community as a whole is the better choice. Be easy on yourselves, as you have been programmed deeply with believing your survival is dependent on competition, when, in fact, the new paradigm of service to others is what will ensure your civilization’s survival.

Once you fully understand the concept of service to oneself first, as you will have little to offer others if you are feeling a lack, then you will know that your abundance in all areas of your life will overflow. With that, the concept of service to others will seem the natural path of Love.

As you serve others with your innate abundance, this transfer of Universal energy will be reflected back to you. It is the Law, and, once understood fully, you will develop more refined and beautiful ways to be of service to others more naturally. The waves of higher energy that will envelop your communities as these concepts develop and become your way of life will uplift all who participate. This is your path to Ascension for the planet.

Many of the inter-galactics that you will come to know have been through the process you are going through now. They too had systems and institutions that did not serve their civilizations’ development. They had to live through the incoherence of dismantling them and then they too had to rebuild under new paradigms. To that end, they are lovingly sympathetic to these times on your planet and want to help you in ways that you will comprehend as you allow them.

You will need to “feel” your new ways with your interactions with them, but with an open mind that can rise above old fear sets, you will be delighted in their gifts to you. When you can physically experience the benefit of the new technologies, see them in action, and the beautiful results of abundance and restoration they will create, it will be easier to put your past fears aside. Your prejudices will fade and you will ponder in amazement, like a child, the new potentials of your existence.

I want you all to believe in yourselves. In your divinity. In your eternal nature. In your power. In your energetic essence, which is Love. These true beliefs will carry you in your light at all times. At any time that you may feel the darkness of any fear, stop your thoughts and reflect on your power. Turn your light on as if you were entering a darkened room and need only flip the switch to see with the light. Your light. It will give you a true vision of what your reality is at any point in time.

You have been programmed to keep your hand away from the light switch. To not enter the room and see the reality and, instead, to fear the darkness and the unknown. Those who know the power of this switch have knowingly kept it from you, as they have sought to keep your reality under their control. It is time for the lights to go on for all men and allow all to see their paths more clearly. This freedom of your mind is all you need. A free mind will understand its existence and know without a doubt which paths to choose.

For those whose minds begin to open to their freedoms, there may well be a strong emotion of judgment and hate for those that have kept you imprisoned. Be gentle and do not focus on the nature of their control, but focus on your new-found freedoms and in your strength in coming to know the Master that you are. You will then be able to very quickly, efficiently, and systematically undo the chain-holds of your programming. This is your Awakening. It will give you the deepest satisfaction. As you scale the mountain, do not look back to fix the path you have trodden, but look forward and up at the beauty in front of you as you choose your future paths. As more and more of you Awaken, and you feel and know your paths are rising together, you will change your civilization as it moves toward Ascension.

There will be a great deal of “saber-rattling” in these times, but that is just, as stated, a threat that is there to get your attention and create fear, but one that you know is meaningless to you as a Master. Acknowledge the distraction, but do not give it any energy other than Love as a way to help lead it out of fear. Again, do not go back to “fix” anything. Your time is yours in this incarnation, and your personal desires should be your priority. Be selfish. Be kind. Look for the miracles surrounding you and view all men as your brother.

One of the easiest behaviors to learn in this process is to smile. When in doubt, smile, as you are conditioned to immediately expect some happiness from this one small action. Smile. Smile. Smile. Then reflect. Then know. This is an easy and effective way for you to live in joy and Love. Laugh as much as you can naturally. Laughter is the very best medicine for both your physical body and your soul. We on this side of the veil spend most of our time laughing. The energy of laughter is very high, so it is natural that we laugh. We laugh with Love for all things in our beautiful Universe.

Happy. Happy. Happy. Dead. Except there is no death, and the happy continues on. This is your nature and why when you smile, laugh, and feel joy, it feels so good. It is the comfort of your home and living in joy and abundance. This is what we wish for you. And to that end, we will always be of service at all times to guide you there.

There will come a time in the not-so-distant future when the people will rise up with a vote of Love versus fear in electing new leaders. Many areas of your governmental systems will be revealed as truly only having served a few and, unfortunately, being aligned and controlled by only a few who have drawn great monetary fortunes from the masses. When revealed, the choices will be vast as to how to move forward in this new paradigm which will allow for a creation of beautiful new ways for the peoples of many civilizations to cooperate in Love.

When given the opportunity to create freely without giving thought to fear of an overriding government policy there will come forth many miracles to live within. When an idea will arise that is not burdened with taxes or regulations or fear-based rules, there will be a complete knowing by many that it is a policy or idea that will benefit those that will live with it. Your innate guidance system will take you to beautiful and just answers.

For the existing governments in place today around the world, there are many fear-based programs that need to be removed, and the sooner the better. I will start with the industrial-military complex. It is completely based on fear and is self-promoting through your media, which is programmed by a few to fuel the fear and hence your unfounded need to continue it in the forms it has taken on. A redistribution of the monies and energies that are required to feed these beastly programs is daunting, and it goes even so much deeper than the masses are led to know. Many

of Love

Question

of the lies will be revealed to the masses across the globe with Full Disclosure, as they will no longer be able to hide the insidious acts and crimes they have committed against humanity for many, many years.

Do not fear their collapse, as it will be looked on in the future as a glorious act of Love that helped propel world civilizations forward. You do not need war on any front for protection. You are whole, and the acts of Love that they will be exchanged for are so much more powerful to create new ways of living in joy and abundance for all men of Earth.

Go in peace, not in hate as the systems of war are disassembled. It will be such a release of Freedom. The machines of war do not create Freedoms and never have. They create fear and have claimed their right to exist as the conduit to Freedom, but this is a great lie. It is on the same scale of the churches telling you to support their existence and live by their fear-based teachings and rules as they were your sole conduit to God, the Creator.

It is of no surprise, then, as you begin to unravel the truths of these institutions that there has been a comingling of their covert levels of control. This is a truth. A harsh one for many to accept, but as you sit with yourselves quietly and ignore the mass media campaigns that will inundate your thinking, you will see the choices of fear that are driving these institutions and systems. Period.

When you see and feel fear you must stop and recognize what it does to your psyche and physical body. It is a great call to your ego to step up and rant and rave in your head at the existence of the fear, and to call yourself to actions that will protect yourself. You must learn to quiet your mind in these times, as it is my promise to you that there are many of these times coming for you to experience and cognize. Trust yourself. Do not trust the news. Trust words of Love. Question all fear.

These are not easy things to do with so much fear-based programming inside your physical body. It will take time, but you will know soon that you can decide, without fear, to choose the power of Love. As your support of the fouled government systems dwindles, there will be many new opportunities to create new more localized and customized ways to coexist with others in peace. Your ability to help your neighbors and serve others will be done with ease as these acts are reflected back onto you with the Law of Attraction.

There may well be migrations of peoples to coexist in communities of like mind. There will be a new system of commercial exchange, new paradigms when your banking institutions are disassembled, as they will be, for they too have operated covertly with the few in true control, to rob you of many abundances. The banking institutions are perhaps the most corrupt and advanced in their fear-based programming of you, telling you that you must create wealth for your survival and that they are the righteous keepers of your future abundance and are to be trusted. They do not want you to understand your power, as their game to control you has created wealth that is unimaginable for only a few. A few that will be revealed as they are and will be disassembled.

The covert manipulation of your health through government systems and the medical and pharmaceutical industry is criminal in its deception to the public that it so falsely claims to protect. There is a reason why the pharmaceutical industry is the biggest lobbyist in the United States. The acquisition of their monies has been helped through the generations by deceitful government programs that promote programs to make people sick, not healthy, to feed the massive industry, that, in turn, by keeping the masses medicated, keeps many away from their power. From recommended diets, to fluoride in your water systems, to holding back natural cures for many illnesses, including cancer, you have been sold big lies by your governments for many, many years.

The idea that your government programs may not be serving you will feel like an extreme untruth in that you have felt you have had the freedom to elect officials who truly served your best interests as an individual. It is easier to accept that, yes, you agreed to support a set of fear-based systems, such as the military, but the idea that your government promoted programs that would physically harm you to support a commercial industry is a bit harder to accept.

This is the time to question everything around you without fear. You are fully capable as the Master you are. You are not a feeble, unworthy being who came here to just exist and play under the fear-based rules of a few who had access to and used their power.

You are a Master. A Master of the Universe. You are wise beyond anything that any of you can cognize now. Your power is immense and when used with Love is miraculous. You need fear nothing. Stand tall in your divinity. Listen to yourself. Look around you for all the miracles of your existence. Do not fear the unknown, as your ability to create a new and better existence for you and your fellow man is immense. It is your path to Peace on Earth.

The paths your government systems are leading you down now are to the destruction of your civilization. Period. The Awakening of your true self is the path to survival. I, along with many other Masters on this side of the veil, are here to help you, but you must ask of your Free Will.

Your task in the disassembling of the institutions that have not served you is to choose and want a better system based in Love, not fear. You do not have to know each path and how to get to the end. It is my promise we will help you and present to you everything you will need to evolve into a new way of living in full abundance and joy. You must trust us. Our depth of Love for you all is immense.

Even though you can only begin to perceive in glimpses a new way of governing a civilization, it is your pure intent and desire to live in Peace that will drive the evolution of your new systems. You must trust that your divine intention is all you need. You who can create worlds will also create new ways of living in communities that will thrive in their abundance and joy when recreated with Love.

The time it will take to settle into this new paradigm of living will be dependent on your belief systems. All will accelerate with your deeper understanding of your true nature and with the application of your innate power. Different areas of your world will adapt differently and at different rates based on the desires of the local civilization. As you feel your way through the changes you would desire, you will know what is of the highest good, and the Universe will then create with your intent the manifestation of the new systems.

Their energy will be much higher than what the world is living in now. It will be felt profoundly within your vessels and will bring all who participate a very deep sense of satisfaction and grace, knowing that they, as an individual, did contribute, did make a difference, and did knowingly serve mankind.

As always, there will be a multitude of different solutions to awaken to in the new world order. These new paradigms will be driven by local grass-roots collaborations, as the trust in over-arching government bureaucracies will not be supported. The new order of the day will come from local groups, who know their local communities and their local needs. As the burden of fear-based government regulations is lifted and the taxation of the individual's wealth ceases, the contributions to help and support local communities will create a thriving infrastructure that will be created with an intent to serve others and will be based in Love.

New ways of commerce will flourish. New ways of caring for the sick or elderly will be profoundly different and beautiful. New ways to provide healthy nourishment to all will be established and supported with great ease. Violence will become a thing of the past as individuals who need support for displaying behaviors that do not serve their communities will be dealt with through loving programs, not ones based on fear, and they will be effective.

The manifestation of these may happen very quickly, and once new ways of living together are put into place locally it all may be swiftly upgraded or changed, based on their effectiveness. They will be truly evolutionary as the energy of the masses continues to rise with the Ascension of your beautiful planet.

I, as well as so many on this side of the veil, can see the potential of all these new ideas and it is truly beautiful, and what the Universe is yearning for.

International diplomacy will come with ease, as well. New technologies, as well as the new ability for the Masters of your planet to manifest abundance, will diminish the need for competition of borders or lands or seas for survival. Lines will blur that previously created political borders, as communities will share and collaborate with their closet neighbors, regardless of the past over-arching political regimes.

Languages will continue to exist and many new songs of Love will flourish. As people's fifth dimensional intuition grows, there will be less need for words. This will also allow for more direct communications with the glorious beasts of your planet, which will, in turn, lead to reducing the utilization of them for nourishment, but rather provide a co-creative existence with the animals based on Love.

There will be, as stated before, an unlimited divine source of guidance for the asking to create the new paradigms that are coming. All will be based on Love, and all will be profound in creating deep and meaningful new relationships among all men.

Just as if you were a child playing with a stack of sticks that collapsed, and someone brought you a big new bag of sticks to begin to create a new structure, you should view this rebuilding of your systems to help support your communities as a fun and creative way to move your civilization forward with a new magnificence that will in the end bring you all so much more joy and abundance that you will wonder why it took so long to play this new game.

As I walked with my fellow man through times of both abundance and scarcity, I viewed each and every situation as a time to expand my Mastery and to help me teach those around me to do the same. I knew that my abundance, which was vast, was completely under my vibrational control. When I came to cross paths with a man who vibrated his scarcity, it was easy for me to share my vibration and lift his vibration, and miracles would appear, both in health and livelihood.

Those who understood that we worked together in the beginning and that they had contributed with their energy to the changes they observed thrived and moved forward in expanding their power. Primary examples of those were many of my disciples, including Mary, Peter, Joseph, and John.

Any man who believed that the transformations they observed were completely due to my presence stumbled once I left. If they could not believe that they contributed, it was difficult for them to then feel their way into their power on their own.

Today is a very different day for me to be teaching these lessons. With the ability of technology to allow for the repetition of lessons verbatim, it is my desire that my word will be able to penetrate the veil and release the Masters of your planet to do the real work they came forth to accomplish.

To create in joy, live in abundance, and reside in a peaceful coexistence with their fellow man. To be of service in their complete trust in their abundance, since they know it is under their control at all times. To know who they are at the deepest levels and to smile at the dawn of each new day, excited and assured that any situation that is brought to them is contributing to the beautiful gem of choosing Love over fear.

The story of my teachings is simple. It is the truth. It is not what has been written before and what so many of you have been presented with through the teachings of your churches and religions. This is the written word I want you to know of your existence, and it is why I have titled the book the “Second Coming,” although I will not be walking the Earth again in a physical body. I will, though, reach deep into your hearts and minds with my Love for each and every one of you as you open up your new-found possibilities of a new way of life.

If you ask for me with fear, I will be with you but on a path that does not serve your highest good. If you ask for me in complete Love with a knowing that we are equals, that I have not, nor ever will judge any part of your existence, and that your freedom in doing so, with a complete belief in your divinity, it will make us both weep for joy, as with two long-lost friends who have been reunited. When our energies connect with complete Love it will “rock” your existence and Awaken your soul within, and I will be smiling from this side with the glory and good that will come from your new-found freedoms.

Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done. These words speak volumes about your potential as the Masters you are in your ability to create your reality, and, more specifically, in creating a world that you specifically desire, versus the existing chaos that you have allowed yourselves to dwell in. Yes, you are all responsible for everything that surrounds you, and your acknowledgement of this responsibility is part of your return to your Mastery. As you can believe and accept, you shall then grow into the new beliefs of your ability to create your new kingdoms with much greater ease.

This is a big lesson, but, once learned, your light will shine so brightly that the Universe will weep with Love and joy. We all stand together on this side of the veil waiting for each and every one of you to Awaken to your Mastery. Love will lead you to this new belief. Fear will not. As you continue to practice these new beliefs you will change from within and you will know the truth, as it is undeniable.

As most men will realize, there comes a time when they must reflect on their existence. The magnificence within them is intoxicating, and if they can relax into their grandeur, even if only for a few moments, they will get a peek at the Master they are. And when the old ways of thinking return, which they will, if they can pull up that internal knowing of who they really are, they will find peace. It is not the ego, which will attach itself to any and all things material. It is that simple glimpse inside, into the unknown, but with a profound knowing that will spark miracles and will transform the weary warriors so many of you have been into peaceful, knowing, and benevolent Masters, which is your true nature and who you are.

This too will be a very personal experience, as with me, as we are all one. The emotions generated will be profound and they will be loving. It is your light shining through, and the truth of it is undeniable. Thank yourself for who you are at this level. Feel it. Then know it. And trust yourself that you are finding this light to your true divinity. Meditation will relax you into a peaceful state, but an intention to look at who you really are will then allow for a more effective reprogramming of old beliefs and set up a new way of approaching all the new and glorious decisions and opportunities for the growth you came for.

As we go along the path of our destiny while incarnated here on Earth, we will Awaken. No one moves backward in their Ascension, ever. It is all about growth and moving forward. As you reap, so will you sow. These are eternal cycles and each is magnificent and filled with miracles.

You are a miracle. You are creating miracles, and all those around you are creating miracles, as well. Keep your eyes open, smile, and relax. You are all God's children, as am I, and each of you is fully deserving of each and every miracle that unfolds to you.

As we Awaken to our Mastery, notice the miracles and then rise to the inner calling of service to others where we will lead for all to enjoy the paths of Love. As your civilizations then begin to walk hand-in-hand, there will be a massive acceleration in the energy of the planet. Those of you that can cognize and feel the rise will ride the wave of its freedoms with ease. Reach out and grab the hands of those in silence but with an understanding that, although they may not understand what is happening, their divine soul will do its best to step forward, and, with your service, ride this energetic wave, as well.

As we go along on this journey of Love there will be great moments of "knowing" that will feed your soul. Cherish these and trust that your soul knows the truth and is whispering to you that you are correct. You do not need another's counsel to confirm your own truths. Nor do others need your confirmation of their inner truths. These truths will begin to build a bridge for you to your Mastery.

As I stand now before you with these teachings, as your teacher once again, I want you to clearly understand the power of your Free Will to accept or reject any of them, without judgment. And as I join with you in your discernment, I will help guide you on the path of Love. Your Free Will and discernment are gifts and, just as you are on your own spiritual path, I am on mine. I will learn and grow with my teachings as I witness your growth.

Guidance for full disclosure

Over the years there will be times as presented to you that will feel like unknown truths. You may well feel confusion as future events unfold and your system of reference for discernment is at a loss to give you guidance. These are the perfect, most beautiful times to go within for guidance, as your higher self can give you loving guidance.

Let it be known that all men will have an equal responsibility in your newly awakened world to choose their way as citizens of the Universe. This is what you all are. You are not just American or Chinese or French; you are citizens of your galaxy that has defined codes of conduct for a peaceful existence, as well as that of the Universe.

With Full Disclosure, as you become aware of your place within your galaxy, it will be no different than that of a child learning of their existence in a global community. As you acknowledge the beautiful other peoples of your galaxy and their home environments, you will delight in the differences and acknowledge that, as they share with you the gifts of their civilizations, your heart will open with gratitude and lead the way to divine loving connections.

I am in no way implying that this will be easy for many with the fear-based programming you have been indoctrinated with, but if you can rationalize with a gentle guidance from your higher self and use a loving discernment, you will reap glorious benefits in your existence now.

These times of Awakening to who you are both individually and as a participant in our Universe are the reason you are here now. You came unequivocally for this experience. It is the ride of an eternal lifetime, and you knew coming into it you would be safe and loved and guided. You knew you would be tested. You knew you would need to ask for guidance. And you knew that being a participant with the entire mass consciousness of the Earth now would make you more evolved in ways that you had already decided upon, as you had already selected many of the lessons you wanted to learn in this school on Earth.

Graduation is here! The big “final” is being introduced, and the more ready you are in your strength of character to answer the choices presented to you, the stronger your resolve will be at the end. Your beautiful divine consciousness has already passed these tests in the past. Your civilization has created new questions and paths to choose from, which lead to the direct expansion of the Universe with your choices.

The evolution here is dramatic and symbolic. We want you to feel pride in all you do, as your existence is so much more powerful than you can understand. Look for the synchronicities as they present themselves to you in these times and know they are symbols and signs of your chosen path.

We will all work together soon on our side of the veil, and we will laugh together and delight in your graduation, no matter what the final will reveal, as all is perfect and happening exactly as expected. Expectations will evolve as future probabilities evolve with all your choices. There is no regression of our Universe, only expansion.

Your role in this expansion is directly related to your joy. Let me say this again — your role in this expansion of the Universe is 100% related to the emotions you feel of joy and abundance and Love. This is why it is so important for you to take care of yourselves in terms of choosing what is right and feels good for you.

At this point it is not important to “know” more than another, or make more decisions, or have more “toys,” or more health, or more “spirituality.” It is about living in a state of joy and wonderment like that of a child who has not yet been conditioned away from their divine guidance. The more you can accept that, even as an adult, having that childlike inquisitiveness, gentle and kind manners, and disregard for so many of the rules of your society that do not bring you joy, will, in fact, lead us all further along “our” path of expansion than you may know. Play in the sand. Dance to the music like no one is watching. Eat the cake. Color outside the lines. It is our promise to you that these ways will give you the greatest score on your final.

I was blessed with a mind that craved the truth of my existence. That craving helped me at an early age step beyond the programming that I was being indoctrinated with. My being at the time had an innate knowledge that the truth would set me free. I hungered for freedom, and with that grew my desire to teach my fellow man how to find their own truths and freedoms.

In the times before us now, this blind faith into the unknown is so much more difficult than in my day. The technological programming is so much deeper now than when a peasant worked the fields and spoke in the evening with his family by candlelight. But you are all Masters here now, and that spark of the Universal truth of your existence is within you all. When you are able to touch it with your consciousness, at first, it may not seem real, but as you dwell with it and feel the Love of it within you, your ability to use it will unfold, and with this its magic will help you know and see through the misguided programming you have been operating with and free you to the truth so that you may use the energy of the Universe in benevolent ways to move your civilization forward.

As you ignite the burning flames of energy within you, you will physically feel its power. It will be like a Sword of Light that you will wield and know it. With this comes great responsibility. You must trust that it will point you toward the Light of benevolent Love easily and that it will take much consternation and effort to point it in the direction or path of fear.

I embraced my power and focused it like a laser beam, and the amplitude of the energy of Love I shared created miracles. It was tremendously more powerful than the swords of fear that have been used against humanity. The fear-based governments and churches at the time knew it and worked swiftly to extinguish my flame.

Every single one of you has this power, and now is the time to Awaken to it, understand it and begin to use it in the ways you will innately know. Do not fear your power but embrace it, for it is what your world needs now. As you do, the effects will be swift. You need only focus this power on the intent you desire, and with that you will summon the power of the Universe to move your civilization forward. That power includes all of us on this side of the veil who will then be allowed to create the magic with you of Peace on Earth.

As you begin to practice with this new-found Sword of Energy, I suggest you start small, believe with an emotion of completeness of your desire as being done, feel the Love in the decision of the action, and then relax into its manifestation.

Many of you may understand the physics of this as a quantum experience, and you would be correct, but your science has not advanced enough yet to cognize the full magnitude of the science that allows for the creation of the manifestations. For now, you will have to trust us with the “hows,” but you will find that we are extremely efficient and set up for this work, with the allowance by you of your Free-Will intent.

Magic will happen. More slowly at first, but that is in direct proportion to your belief system, and as the fear-based programming subsides, the power you wield as the Master you are will emerge.

If you choose to test your power on the path of fear you will be summoning lower frequencies that do exist but that are slower in all manners to manifest. It took massive efforts by those that chose the fear-based manifestations of your churches and governments, and they knew your power and, to control you, worked very strategically to keep you distracted and unaware.

Have no doubt that they are deeply aware of your Awakening as a civilization. Many have begun the process of disassociating themselves from the powerful lead positions of these institutions, as they know about your coming power and what it is to unveil. Some who have wielded the power against humanity will hang on until the end, but when they re-emerge into the non-physical side of our veil there will be no judgment. Their paths are not to be focused upon.

Create and focus on your dreams. That is your only work. Learn to magnify your energy with your focus, learn to trust us, learn to relax and laugh more, and look for the miracles of Love everywhere around you, and your civilization will emerge in the beautiful transformation you came to be a part of.

This is why you came. The time is now to do your energy work. Have fun with it. Know that if you see and feel something you would like to improve, you can impact it with your loving intention. Anything.

Ask for a plant to grow stronger. Intend for a connection with an old friend. Do not shy away from anything that you feel drawn to with Love. Embrace it all. Dance the dance of your incarnation and watch and appreciate as others dance their dance.

When the time comes to Awaken and then work towards owning the dismantling of your fear-based programs you will be ready with all the tools necessary. Some programs may take longer to unravel than others, but anything is possible.

One of the strongest tools available to you at all times is your ability to review your Akashic records. Akashic records are encoded in your DNA and are alive inside every cell of your body. Your eternal history lives there, all of it. If this is a new concept for you, then I will ask you to spend some time studying this reality for your benefit, for, as a Master, you can access it at any time for knowledge and guidance.

You may be holding programming, fear-based programming, from a past life in your Akashic record that is leading you to choose fear-based paths at times that you may not logically understand. You may knowingly ask your Akash to help you understand why and to help you transform an area of your past to help with your forward growth. This will be another big and new concept for many of you, but it is one of significance for your Awakening, and as you embrace your complete divine self it will be useful in sorting through and understanding why you may automatically gravitate to certain actions or feelings.

For example, many of your past lives may have been much more difficult in terms of physical survival for you. Any one act of horror or abuse that you had great emotion about at the time may well be anchored now into your Akash, therefore still existing in your physical makeup in your current incarnation. If you perhaps died in childbirth, you may be overly cautious with a pregnancy in this lifetime. If you drowned in a past life, you may have a larger sense of fear of deep water. As you will understand, there are eternal combinations of your life experience that may be networked together, and that may create programs that may or may not benefit you. The positive emotions and carryover of these memories will always outweigh the fear-based emotions you have experienced. For example, if you played an instrument of music in a past life, your aptitude for that instrument now in this life may have you seem to be a child prodigy.

Many of the children of your civilization have chosen, as the Masters they are, to remember and access their Akash. This is showing itself to you when you see a child who reads early with little instruction, or knows how to use a technological device, or speaks of matters that they have been presented with almost no teaching on. When you see these occurrences and scenarios, now you will understand that they, in their Mastery, are accessing their Akash for guidance. I want you to understand that this powerful ability is available to you all and that the rewards of a deeper understanding of who you are will be immense.

I will give you a brief lesson now on the steps to access your Akashic record. It is not difficult, but it does require a belief in the process.

STEP ONE Relax your mind for a bit and create an intention of what knowledge you are seeking and why. This may take the form of a simple question.

STEP TWO Ask that your Akashic records be opened with a knowing that they do exist for you.

STEP THREE Listen and receive in whatever modality works for you. Some of you will hear the answer, some of you will simply know, and for others it will be from an outside message that you must look for.

The Akash is your friend and should not be feared. It is you, and as you understand how to use this beautiful tool for your progression, the library of information it holds will dazzle you. As you begin to look into it, it will teach you and help you understand aspects of your programming. It will be up to you then to choose how you use this information. Your experiences are yours for eternity, and they will continue to build on one another in the glorious expansion of the Universe.

Others may help, with your permission, to open the Akashic records with a procedure called a past life regression. This can be a beautiful cooperative event and may be a good first step as well for anyone searching for a specific answer. You can do this all on your own, but this is fully acceptable as well with your intention.

The truth of your Akash will resonate boldly within you, as it is who you are eternally. Your incarnation now, to be here on Earth, and to be walking with your fellow man, is the most important realization for you to embrace. Your past has led you to the now of your existence, which is the leading edge of the Universe, and it is your forward choices that you need to prioritize with Love. Use your Akash when needed, but do not dwell there. Live your fullest life with enthusiasm and knowing.

For all those that take the adventure into their Akashic records, there will be discoveries similar to that of an explorer. You will be entering areas of your existence that are real and will lay undiscovered until you find your way in to meet them. Once there, it may seem surreal, it may seem beautiful, or perhaps disturbing, but it will feel truthful, as it is you.

Some events will seem trivial, yet they are continuing to have an impact on your existence now. Others will appear to be magnificent in their scope and will give you great insight into many of your current behaviors and belief systems. All should be appreciated for what they are. They are yours and reflect pieces of your eternal journey. It is your complete Free-Will choice as to how to use this information, and my best guidance to you is to listen to your higher self as to what the pieces of the record mean and how best to integrate them into your highest good for this incarnation.

When I walked the Earth, I was taught how to access my Akash by the gurus of Tibet. My lives have scanned the Universe and my lessons learned were immense in their history. I was and am still on the same path as all the sentient beings on Earth now, albeit just further along. You are so much closer to the complete divinity of your existence than most of you know. It is my wish, as you use your Akash and build your belief system in the fact that you are eternal, have had past lives, and your entity is on a path of helping expand the Universe, that you will embrace that you and all those around you are the Masters that you are, and, with that, embrace your powers for the betterment of your civilization.

Every Master will always be looking for the next opportunity for growth. They understand that the evolution of their being is eternal and that there is no end to the “game” of their existence. They hunger to be presented with opportunities for growth that will test their divine selves. They delight in making choices and stretching their conscious thought, and they know without a doubt that they will always be given more opportunities in this eternal playground.

A Master will never believe the game is over and become complacent with their energy. Even our energetic Source, that some may call God, is thriving and delighting in every choice of each of his Masters here on Earth, as the resulting expansion of this Universe is based on its continuation. Each and every one of your existences matters. There is not one exception. You are all Masters, not pawns, and as you awaken to this truth, and embrace it, the miracles that are now needed for your full civilization to awaken and ascend into the next cycle of your existence on Earth will be presented and manifested for all.

The energetic power required with your own personal Mastery is such a simple, simple effort that it is truly unbelievable for most. When you make the connection that you can direct Universal powers to bring to bear manifestations on Earth now with just a thought, you will be embracing your Mastery. The path for many may be to begin smaller, as I have stated before, and with that your false-based programming can begin to unravel. As you begin this process of unraveling the veil to your Mastery, the rate of growth in your belief system of who you really are will be exponential.

It is not important, though, how fast you will be to know your full powers. It is more important to start the process of this new belief system. Play with it from a joyful, childlike perspective. That will take you to a faster path of mastery than using it to “fix” a problem, as that will only bring more focus to the problem until your belief system is more fully evolved. Practice in joy, not in despair. Practice with a light heart. Be patient. Look for results with patience and do not look, look, look, as that will only bring energy to the lack of the manifestation. Ask, then give up all “wishing” and practice “knowing” and keep moving forward. When your manifestation then presents itself, you must begin to “wire-in” that sense of knowing that, of course, you used your energy to align the powers of the Universe to bring you what you desire. That sense of “knowing” is what makes you a Master and what has been denied to so many of you. This “knowing” is what is there beneath so much of your fear-based programming, but it is there for you to find and continue to use in your evolution.

You, as all the Masters around you, knew that the veil would exist for you in these times and that it provided a fun playground to test and expand your skill sets more than on this side of the veil. You came here as a Master wanting to play this game. You came to “mix it up” with your fellow Masters in an endless selection of opportunities for growth. You created a game plan with many of the Masters you coexist with now to create opportunities for growth and learning. Many of the Masters closest to you may be providing you the biggest opportunities for growth in situations that may seem hard or unjust in your current understanding, which, for many of you, is that you are less than the Master you are. How you handle decisions you make, for example, around a divorce, the loss of a loved one, difficulties with a job, or your finances are all, without exception, a part of your “pre-game” strategy before you incarnated. You volunteered to set up situations, and other Masters volunteered for you to set up situations to allow you to play the game of your choosing. This reality for all is a game of growth, and the path you and all Masters are looking for is the one based on Love.

Embrace the game. Play it by your own rules. Trust your divine guidance to help you find the paths of Love. Give up playing by the rules of others that are based in fear. Do not rely on religious orders’ “rules” if they appear to be taking you away from your own guidance. A religion is not a Master, nor is a government system. Their existence has been orchestrated into your “game,” but that is why you so willingly are here now, as the tests of your moves are so much greater. You are playing for high stakes: that of your civilization and its continuance on this planet. Your contribution is best played and served locally. Play this beautiful game with those close at hand. Build your Mastery of the game and take complete delight when a winning move presents itself to you, “knowing” it was made and decided on by your loving self.

As the winds of time pass over your beautiful planet, so do the miracles that abound around you. As you dwell on the complete magnificence of your Earthly experience each day you will, with that one process alone, be awakening your conscious to its truth. Your truth is my truth, as we are one.

There will be fear for many in letting go of so many deeply ingrained false beliefs, especially all at once. You need to be gentle with yourselves, as there will be many who will resist these truths, including your ego. For many it may take years, for some less time, and for others it may be too great of a leap of faith to believe in the truth of my words here to you now.

You have been taught that my words which create the foundation for many of your religions were mine. It is almost like a game of “post office,” where the story as passed on from one to another can take on a slightly new meaning with its message. Most of my teachings could not even be transcribed for over two hundred years. A very long time in the telling of my words, and overlaid with the specific re-design of them to seek control of your divinity.

So now, in the most direct way that I can speak to you from this side of the veil, I am offering you my teachings again as the truth that I know. There is no bias now. I am speaking to you directly, and it is my promise that when you ask for me to appear for you, I will, and that act will, in fact, reinforce that I am very real and alive and love you with a depth that is eternal.

With my presence, many will weep with the outpouring of Universal Love I will bring through me to you. That is expected. Again, be gentle with yourselves after the experience. It will be your personal experience. View it as a new beginning, with a new faith in yourselves as the divine Masters you are. I will be grateful for the opportunity to touch your soul directly, with the asking, and from there all the new potentials of your civilization may begin to awaken, as are you.

In your divine human body, which is made up of the most magnificent energy fields, you may well feel different. You may experience gentle buzzing sensations or feelings of lightness or a sense of knowing a truth that is coming from within yourself versus an outside source. These are all normal, as your higher energy thoughts of Love and your new higher energy potentials awaken. Your divine soul, make no mistake, wants to be Awakened for the ride on Earth, and it will not be just a mental exercise when it does but will be visceral. Your divinity resides in every cell of your body. My best advice to you is to relax into these new sensations and trust that you are on the right path. If you resist and choose the paths of fear as they arise you will be missing a grand time: the time of Awakening.

If it is too much, that is fine too. Just know that my Love for you will fill each of your cells, and that is eternal. It is your Free-Will choice to ask for my presence and then to choose how you use the experience. If only one choice is made of Love over fear from the experience, my work has been done, and it will be looked on with gratitude from me.

Even my scribe for these words had trepidations when I first appeared to her on a Christmas morning. I tried to ease the anxiety of this new experience for her with a joke that was not funny. There were so many people celebrating my birthday when it was not my birthday. Her experience with this was an outpouring of Love from within that for her was literally uncontrollable. Yet this was a woman that had no relationship in her three-dimensional existence with myself. Complete neutrality. Her experience was profound for her and took her many weeks to comprehend and process. I spoke to her thereafter in her meditations when she willingly raised her vibrational energy and allowed for her divine consciousness to flow into her body.

It was weeks later as she became more comfortable with releasing her ego and listening to guidance from this side of the veil that our aligned energies began the channel of this book.

I only give you this example so as to let you understand that your experience with my energy will be very personal for you. For most it will be very profound because of the exchange of our core, which is Love, and it will take as long as you need for you to fully cognize the experience. This is your journey as an explorer into your divine selves, and, as the truth of it reveals itself to you in ways that only you will know, it will begin the transformation of your critical thinking processes as to the reality you are existing in now.

A reality that is much more beautiful and powerful than you can imagine. Filled with Love and benevolence, and, as you embrace the beauty of it all and acknowledge the paths presented to you as wonderful opportunities of Love, not fear, you will look around you and truly see all the miracles of your existence and the path you may personally create to Peace on Earth.

It is a freeing and truly glorious experience to Awaken. When others around you have Awakened you will see it in their eyes. The knowing of their soul as to who they are will be reflected back to you as you gain a deeper understanding of your own personal progression in knowing yourself.

We all on this side of the veil know you, as we know all men on Earth, as we are all one. We Love you with a depth that is almost unspeakable in its ability to cross the Universe. Do not be fearful of loving deeply and allowing our Love to touch you, and as I touch you with my Love for you, allow others to Love you as well from both sides of the veil.

This Love will sustain you. It will nourish you, and it will create the Heaven on Earth you came to experience. It will warm your soul. It will give you physical strength, and it will heal you.

As you further cognize the distinction, yet complete appreciation for both your physical body and your divine consciousness, you will feel your abilities as a Master emerge and you will settle into your journey here with a greater satisfaction and you will know your paths, and you will know where to go with ease.

You will fret less about what others are thinking, doing, or speaking. You will understand they are on their journey. You will see them as the Masters they are. And you will Love every interaction with a profound knowing of this game. Then, as you get better and better at the game you now know the rules to, you will enjoy it more and laugh more and Love more. Each and every day presents glorious new opportunities to venture into the realm of the unknown.

Guidance for the new Golden Age of technology

Technology is a very transitional reality and one that is probably given too much credit for its ability to enrich the lives of individuals. When a soul understands its own Mastery to create their own reality, without a dependence on a device, they unleash their true freedom. But in the interim, to this knowing, technology is a crutch to help many live the lives they choose to manifest.

Yes, it has been evolving on your planet in different waves over different civilizations. The technology at the forefront of what is available today to most men is viewed as leading edge, when, in fact, it is very primitive and not in alignment with an Ascended planet Earth.

New and beautiful “Earth-friendly” technologies are in existence on your planet now but have been cloaked behind the needs of a few to perpetuate the need for fossil-based fuel and the wealth it has brought to the few who control its continuing need for energy.

The new Golden Age of Technology will be gifted to humanity soon, and it will be of a magnificence to behold.

All will be Earth-friendly and free in terms of all need for energy production. This will create a large disruption in the existing energy delivery systems and will be flagged as a breakdown for many economies, but this is not the case. The masses will be enabled and true abundance on so many fronts will be revealed.

Medical technology will go beyond the art of healing to that of anti-aging. Transportation systems will embody new anti-gravity machines that will evolve into conscious-based vehicles for travel throughout your galaxy, if you so desire.

The computer systems and internet feeds of today will be replaced by completely wireless protocols that will be available to all around the world. Information will flow freely. The grip the current media has on what you are presented with for news and entertainment will cease, as new libraries of the truths of the Universe as well as entertainment will be enabled.

It will all be new and beautiful to most as this Golden Age emerges within your civilizations. All of these technologies are in existence now on your planet and awaiting distribution. As your mass consciousness continues to awaken, their unfolding will begin. Some of your institutions will be able to embrace and adapt for the good of mankind to the new ways of living. Most will not, but that is part of this beautiful rebirth of your planet.

You will all actively have a choice in all the ways you will handle these beautiful new technologies. As the new technologies are introduced to your civilization there will be a need for discernment in their implementation. You came to create with your thoughts. Do not allow a device to do that for you and miss out on the true adventure of your incarnation. Do ground yourself more as a necessity, as more unnatural electro-magnetic frequencies will make their way into your energy fields. Do practice the art of loving direct interactions with your fellow man versus any through a screen on a device.

There will be beauty and abundance to be gifted with the new technologies that will benefit many, and that is beautiful and long overdue for your civilization. But, again, use discernment in the scope of how you choose to play in this new era of technology and do not forget the grace of Gaia, who has allowed for you to walk on her divine planet. Keep your children outdoors as much as you can and breathe in the beauty of nature. Keep your physical bodies outside and knowingly ground your divine consciousness to the Earth daily as you can.

You will easily cognize the new technologies and fold them into your lives seamlessly, but this is not what you came here for. You came to create and to expand your Mastery, and that must be integrated now with new ways of daily life. Oh, these new technologies will present you with choices of Love over fear, but you must stay aware of the opportunities to play with your awakening conscious, as that, not a new technology, is what will move your planet into Ascension.

I wish for you to continually marvel at yourself in your beautiful physical body and to yearn to know more and be more loving in all areas you may choose to focus your energy on. The new technologies of the Golden Age will open many new doors for you to discover more about our Universe, but it is your conscious mind that will always be at the heart of its expansion. All of the new advances that these new technological devices will bring forward will be but a small step in the expansion of the Universe, as they already exist now and have for many, many years throughout the Universe. The growth will be in the expansion of every man's dreams. To dream bigger and more creatively from a place of desire with an overlaying emotion of belief that more of your dreams can be realized. This is the game to be played. And when played with a loving intent and guidance from your divine self, all will benefit.

Some will view the new technologies as an opportunity to create more fear-based situations, as there have been in the past. The motives will be the same: to control and gain from fear-based actions that will only benefit the few. Their power of influence will be quelled as the loving Ascension of the planet continues. These will create important opportunities for the masses of consciousness that hold the light for the planet to stay grounded in their power. To stay connected and to direct the power of the Universe to maintain the Peace on Earth you all desire to dwell within.

As we continue down the path of Awakening, there will be much greater opportunities for the expansion of the joy and abundance you were meant to dwell in created by your own mind. Artificial intelligence as a broadening technology will assist only those creations that attract it, and those creations are only conceived in the mind of man. It is a byproduct of a creative mind. The creative mind that explores into the depths and powers of the Universe with a knowing intent is the greatest technological developer, as it is all-knowing.

Play with your mind's creative ability as much as you play with your upcoming new technologies. Your mind, you will soon learn, will take you much farther. The ability to manifest with your mind alone as you learn to play in the quantum Universe will be a wonderful Awakening for many. It will reflect back to you the complete abundance you live in, and the cycles of manifestations will grow. Then as they expand and you can cognize that you truly have all that you need in this reality, you will then be moved to play more of the original "game" of your existence here as the Master you are in choosing Love over fear.

Ascended Masters— it is time to unite

As I teach through my words today you will know the truths of your divine consciousness that will surface within your consciousness, as these ideas and concepts are attracted to each other by the Law of Attraction. My truth is your truth from within.

With this understanding, you may then more easily discern the fear-based programming that you hold within. It is not to be ignored but to be recognized so that you may begin unraveling its hold on your conscious decision-making. Remember that this is a game and my teachings are meant to help guide you back to your Mastery. The clues I am leaving for all will be acknowledged very specifically to each of you. Many of the clues will come at different times, as well as in different scenarios, but you will begin acknowledging them, even if at first you do not agree with them. That is perfect, as you will never end this evolution of your divine, eternal consciousness.

If only out of curiosity, as that is the most receptive state of consciousness to live in, acknowledge what you believe as a truth, even if you knowingly acknowledge the fear it may contain. It is your belief and Free Will. Live in your truth, but allow for a thought of curiousness about how your truth might transform if based in Love over fear.

Do not push yourself to feel and trust my truths when you physically and emotionally are at odds with them. It is important for you to relax with yourself and to work on making your own divine connections through a quieting of your mind through the simple meditative practices I have described to you. Remember that no one is judging you on our side of the veil. There is no sin and there are no victims. You are applauded at every action, and your service to all in this incarnation is nothing short of magnificent.

Feel your power. Listen to your guidance. Relax. And if you want guidance, then be curious and listen. When any other man may impose their truths as absolute upon you, then use your discernment, even with what I am speaking to you of the Universal truths I am communicating to you through these words. You are your own Master at your core.

The time for the Awakening of your beautiful mind is here! The wave of the opening up of the channels of so many men at this time is awe-inspiring, and the resulting flow of energy onto and into the Earth is a sight to behold for all on this side of the veil. The song of Earth is moving back into its natural state that has been missed by all those beautiful civilizations in our galaxy. It is a song of Love that is then reflected back to Earth with the loving grace it was projected with.

Embrace this spectacular energy shift on the planet as it moves between dimensions. It is not the first time, nor will it be the last, but it is always an event that as many divine souls can be part of as allow. This is what you came for, and as it evolves, know it. Embrace it with your fellow man. Do not let the chosen paths of any toward fear influence those that grasp the unfolding of the Love of the Universe focused on Earth. As the mastery of many men begins to be developed now there should be no event that you cannot comprehend. Anything is possible. Discern all and applaud all the outrageous new paths to Love that will be revealed.

Again, this will not be linear but will be exponential, and, as I said before, you will wonder with its ease of transformation of your civilization why it took so long. That does not matter. It is here now and you are the Master that is here to add your energetic Universal channel to its evolution.

You will remember so much more with your Awakening into the Ascension. As a Master you will know how to draw from your Akash all you need to support you, as well as guidance for your future evolution from your divine consciousness. You are never alone in this beautiful journey.

Those minds that can cognize and know those Masters that are near them and use their service to others in these times of transition will thrive. Providing your individual service to others in whatever manner resonates with you is nearing the top force field of energetic Love you will bring to the planet. Play with it and use it. Then relax and know that you are your Master and be proud. It all should feel good as you learn once again to dwell in Peace on Earth with the joy and abundance you are actively creating.

Delight— you made it

Your existence since birth was and will always be that of a Master. My words in these teachings, whether you have chosen to believe them or not, have made an impact and pierced the veil of your reality. You cannot unlearn or forget what you have read in these pages, for they are Universal truths. You can deny them, freely and without judgment, but you will keep them in your subconscious programming and they will be available to you eternally, just as are all the lessons from all of your past incarnations. You have allowed me through your reading of this work to become your personal guide for a short time, and I am honored to provide this as a service to you, as it is a service to myself.

As you continue your Awakening, you will understand that you never needed my teachings, as you are whole and divine and are the complete Master of your eternal evolution.

You and the other Masters are waking up, and the Ascension of your beautiful planet Earth is well underway. You have made a difference with this incarnation in the most beautiful orchestration of your aligned energies with your fellow man.

There will come a day when all men will look back on these times as the beautiful chaos it is and be grateful for the powerful and immense opportunities for growth they provided. The sooner you accept this truth, the sooner you will be able to master any situation or choice in paths that are presented to you. Embrace everything with Love, including your every thought, for all is Love.

Now that you have been presented with the new and updated rules to play by, your ability as a Master will become a lot more fun and bring you great joy and abundance in this incarnation. Adore your every “move” and wait in gleeful anticipation for the next decision to make in the game. As you play more, you will play faster, as will all the Masters around you, and you will raise the energy of your existence to the point that you will physically feel your “moves” and growth.

This physical upgrade to your body will come in many forms, all beneficial to you on your choices for Love. Diseases will slip away; the processes of aging will slow; you will require less physical nourishment as your soul feeds you more. Your head may buzz as your crown chakra opens and you allow more of your divine consciousness to flood into your energetic body. You will smile more and you will delight in seeing all the miracles that abound around you, and wonder how you ever could have not noticed them in the past.

You will feel your Freedom more deeply. Your Freedom will unleash new creative forces from within you that will serve us all in the expansion of the Universe. You will find that you do have “all the time in the world” as you acknowledge your eternal existence and your Freedom to choose how you spend your time and energy. The slavery of your existence in playing by the rules of others will slip away, and your Freedom to choose who you want to “play” with while here will bring you a sublime gratification as you understand that it all is under your control.

You will serve others more and know and feel with deep emotions the exchange of Love that it brings. All of the Angels and Guides and Heavenly beings on this side of the veil are smiling from ear to ear at your Awakening, as is the entire Universe. It has been a bit longer than anticipated, but nonetheless it is underway now and there is no stopping the full Ascension of your planet and the civilizations that are its current residents.

Your Ascension will bring forth so many expansive opportunities for all who are participating. It will be difficult for most to comprehend, but your future holds your potential participation in the creation of the next planet Earth. It will not be called Earth, but it will be a spectacular addition to our Universe that you will help birth with your Ascended Mastery.

The life on Earth will only become more beautiful and Awakened, as all species will thrive as was intended and all will live in joy and abundance. The inter-galactics that Love and adore you all will be welcomed as they share new technologies and cooperative ways of living in Peace. It will be a beautiful existence for all. The opportunities for spiritual growth will be different, but your Mastery unveiled will make them all welcome.

As we are all eternal, your divine consciousness is not new to this process of Awakening. It has done it for many, time and time again, in different star systems. Those star systems are alive with thriving civilizations that are eager to share their experiences with you to contribute to the overall continuing and never-ending expansion of our Universe.

A very good analogy is to view the inter-galactics as your parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents in their Love and desire to see all who reside on this planet Earth thrive. And you will understand deeply their Love as you will participate in your own procreation of your own planet.

Even though these thoughts for you are big and new concepts, they are all based in Love, and as the Universe resides inside of you, it will resonate within your divine consciousness with the truth it is. As the miracle of all of this unfolds, I ask that you relax into its beauty and be grateful that you are here as a knowing participant. You have grown into an expanded understanding of your existence in these times. There is so much more to know, but your focus will be best served by staying present with all the new and wondrous miracles that will begin manifesting before your eyes.

Even as we seize every opportunity that is presented to us, there will be times of wondering just how much more there really is to our existence. There is so much more that it truly is incomprehensible from your vantage point of attraction, for now. With the planet's Ascension, more and more of our wonderful Universe will be revealed and more and more men will Awaken to even more of their Mastery.

As you realize more of the energetic bodies you are residing in for this physical experience and their ability to be controlled by your consciousness, there will be amazing and new ways for you to experience the planet. Yes, it will seem like magic, but that is only because many of the miracles you will control in your vessel will be new. You are made of Light, and that responds to Love, and, as you understand more of what Love can move in the world around you, you will cognize what it can do to your physical body as well.

Love can move mountains; it can heal disease; it can create new planets and stars. It can only be used with direction from your divine consciousness. You are of it completely, but it needs your Free-Will intention to be activated. As you continue to Awaken and the false sub-programming begins to fade and that of your Mastery then begins to become hard-wired into your physical body, the experience and the resulting belief systems within you will change. The majority of men are not ready now for these big changes, but the children coming on to the planet now are. And as the false programming of your existence slips away, and the Mastery of your existence takes hold, it will be much easier to grasp the infinite possibilities that await you.

The time it takes does not matter, as all will evolve in a perfect pace of unfolding for each of you. The more relaxed you are in your Awakening to your Mastery, the faster you will progress. If you try too hard, then you will meet with resistant forces, as you are already perfection. There is not one winner in this game. We are all One, and we are all winners in our combined divine energy. We all love playing this game, and your role is best served by allowing the game to proceed at its natural pace and not forcing moves from yourself or your fellow man in hopes of getting to an end point that will never exist.

I will close these teachings now with a summary of all:
Choose Love over fear.

We all Love you all. Every person, every thought, every creature, every plant, every sunrise, every star. Believe in the magic of the Universe and that all is conspiring on your behalf and that you can pierce the veil of your current existence and touch the Love from whence you came.
